RUSSIA AND EUROPE.

THE FEELING IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, November 19.—John Stuart Mill writes a communication to the Times this morning protesting against England embarking in a war with Russia on any existing provocation, especially as the demands made by Russia thus far seem worthy of consideration.

Mr. Froud also writes to the Times, urging the government to change front rather than extend the war.

A special dispatch to the Morning Post says: Russia must recant or embark in a war urging her humiliation.

The feeling in England to-day is somewhat more peaceful, but there is still a strong undercurrent of excitement. Securities at the Stock Exchange are lower and breadstuffs higher.

The Prince of Wales, representing the views of the Queen, is understood to have expressed to the Cabinet her disapproval of Lord Granville's hasty reply to Russia.

A RUSSIAN DENIAL.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—The Golos denies that Russia offered neutrality to Prussia on condition that the Paris treaty of 1856 be set aside. Prussia only desires a modification of the treaty, while Russia is quite willing to submit her pretensions to the decision of a conference. Prussia will only consent to the scheme on the condition that her relations with France shall not be discussed thereat.

The independence of Roumania is represented as a source of great annoyance to Russia, and that the Czar is very anxious to destroy the new State so pernicious to its influence upon his very borders. In case of war it is likely that Austrian influence will not be sufficient to keep Russia, Servia and Montenegro from attempting to gain their independence, and the late insurrection in Dalmatia indicates a state of suppressed discontent that may endanger Austrian rule on the Adriatic. In the event of a revolt of those vassal Princes the military power of Turkey would be completely neutralized against Russia, and the most serious complications be presented to the consideration of the western powers.

A special gives currency to the report that the leading neutral powers will meet next month in Vienna, and settle all difficulties between England and Russia, and possibly between France and Germany.

[Cable special to the N.Y. Herald.]

THE WAR EXCITEMENT IN ENGLAND—DIVISION OF THE CABINET.

A very strong and warlike feeling decidedly prevails all over England. An important division exists on the Russian question, which will be likely to lead to the dissolution of the ministry. Granville insists that England must now put down her foot firmly or forever give up her voice in European affairs. He holds that the present attitude of Russia means the future, if not the immediate prosecution of her long cherished designs in the East. The present moment is the only time when England can hope to resist successfully a policy against which heretofore she has fought at great sacrifice of lives and treasure. Messrs. Lowe and Cardwell have positively arrayed against war on the present issue. The conservatives are about to call a meeting at London to consider the crisis. In view of the probable early convocation of Parliament, Mr. Gladstone hesitates to commit himself for or against war on the present provocation.

The Spectator says the armament of Malta and Gibraltar is ordered hastened. The port and channel fleet go to the Levant at once.

RUSSIA'S REPLY TO LORD GRANVILLE'S NOTE.

ST. PETERSBURG, 8 P. M.—The reply of the Russian Government to Earl Granville's letter was promptly forwarded to London. Russia adopts a highly conciliatory tone, but remains firm in the position already adopted, and refutes at length the statement that the movements of the Principalities, in contravention of the Treaty of Paris, enured to her advantage. She appeals to all friendly powers to note the fact that a congress is impracticable in the present state of the principal European powers, and that Russia expressly disclaims any hostile intentions or desire to disregard any provision of the treaty of Paris, other than those which are generally admitted to be unjust and oppressive to her. She would deeply regret the interruption of the friendly relations which she has endeavored to cultivate with Great Britain. But she repeats her intention to act upon the previous notification in regard to the Black Sea.

The general feeling of people of St. Petersburg is favorable to the position of the government. Gortschakoff had a long interview yesterday with the Italian Minister, and a special envoy from Florence.

[Cable Special to N. Y. Herald.]

THE EXCITEMENT IN ITALY OVER THE RUSSIAN QUESTION.

LONDON, November 19.—A telegram from Florence, 18th, says great excitement prevails there over the war question. In regard to Russia's position on the treaty of '56 popular enthusiasm is in favor of adherence to the course of Russia. The report that the ministry is resolved not to take joint action with England and Austria is well received. The position taken by the Cabinet is understood to be a determination to keep entirely aloof from the complications that may grow out of this question. The government will have enough to do in harmonizing the new state of affairs at Rome.

Official papers state that the reports of Prussia's intended interference in behalf of the Pope are entirely unfounded. They were raised by agents of Austria for selfish ends. It is certain that Italy's position will be that of entire neutrality.

A BARRIER TO THE WAR.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Article nine of the treaty of March 30, 1856, is still regarded as a barrier to war, especially when considered in connection with protocol of April [illegible] of the same year. This article, as explained by the protocol, requires the reference of questions which might arise to a friendly power preliminary to any act of hostility. It will be noticed that an overt act, not a declaration, however hostile it may be in tone, is necessary to constitute a breach of the treaty. An overt act is still wanting. Prussia, in case of a revision of the treaty of Paris will consent to no restriction on the free action of the Czar.

There is much remark in diplomatic circles on the [illegible] of Gladstone in writing to the [illegible] over the signature of "[illegible]." A communication in reply appears from [illegible].

It is understood that Bismarck is extremely vindictive towards Gladstone in consequence of the comments on Prussian policy he has made or inspired in the public prints.

THE OTHER POWERS AND THE RUSSIAN QUESTION.

A special to the New York World says: Your correspondent last night again interviewed the same member of the government whose statements concerning the Russian question were telegraphed you on the 16th inst. He said it was now certain that no combination of the powers would be formed against Russia. Five governments besides Russia signed the treaty of 1856, and all are equally aggrieved at Russia's violation thereof, but will not even write a collective note remonstrating against the violation. France is [illegible]; Prussia connives with Russia; Italy declares that she will not join any diplomatic movement against Russia, having gained the objects of her former alliance with France and England. There remains Austria; she will address a note to Prussia, but will not threaten war. In 1867 Count Beust himself proposed the abolition of the provisions of the treaty [illegible] sovereignty in the Black Sea. He is now quite willing, even anxious, to make a still higher bid for the friendship of Russia. You will see that England will be left alone, should she insist on refusing to join a Congress for the revision of Russia's claims. She will not insist that Congress shall meet, and Russia will gain her point. Granville's letter does not mean war. England has no wish for the struggle. [illegible] and Turkey are on one side; Russia, Prussia and the United States on the other. The remaining powers are mere spectators. Bismarck has a secret treaty with Russia, just as he had a draft of a secret treaty with France—two strings to his bow. He [illegible] to reject France's offer to give him all he wanted in exchange for Belgium, and to accept Russia's bargain and compel the neutrality of Austria as a condition of leaving the treaty of 1856 to pieces.

ACTIVITY AT THE BRITISH WAR OFFICE.

[illegible] activity prevails at the war office in Pall Mall and at the Admiralty in White Hall. The Duke of Cambridge has taken up quarters at the war office, and all the Lords of Admiralty remain constantly at White Hall. The work goes on night and day preparing for war.

A war meeting will be called at the Mansion House early next week to strengthen the hand of the government, in insisting that Russia shall withdraw her pretensions or be compelled to do so.

All the iron clads and a number of wooden vessels and transports are fitting up for sea.

A statement of the condition of the Naval Reserve Coast Guard and [illegible] shows that there are [illegible] experienced seamen who could be brought into service within a fortnight.

Snider breech loaders are being served out to volunteers and regiments. Large orders received in the city from Russia for pig iron, cannon, shot, lead, antimony and copper, will not be filled.

STRENGTH OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY.

The official statement of the strength of the Russian army on a war footing shows the following result: Regular army, Infantry, [illegible] men; Cavalry, [illegible]; Artillery, [illegible]; Engineers, [illegible]; Guns, [illegible]. Irregular army, Cossacks, troops of Caucasians, Infantry, 37,174; Cavalry, 143,862; Artillery, 7,281; Guns, 239. Grand total 1,457,657.

[New York Tribune Special.]

GRANVILLE'S NOTE DISCUSSED BY RUSSIA.

LONDON, November 20.—A special correspondent of the Tribune telegraphs from St. Petersburg, 19th, saying: A decree has been issued extending compulsory military service to all classes of the population. The decree is well received by the journals, and is considered a peaceful measure.

The St. Petersburg Gazette discussed to-day the English note, and says that Granville admits the substance of Russia's demands, and that therefore it is useless to quarrel about the form. Austria did the same by Von Beust's proposition to revise the treaty. No advantage to England or Austria would arise from a war. A form of circular was necessary, because it was impossible to get a congress to modify the treaty otherwise. Russia was not the first to break the treaty. A peaceful result will probably be obtained by diplomacy.

RUSSIAN FLEET FOR THE DARDANELLES.

ST. PETERSBURG, November 19.—An imposing iron clad Russian squadron will shortly make its appearance in the Dardanelles, and a military force will appear on the Danube, if Vienna and Constantinople are less compliant than Russia hopes. Ignatieff has started for Constantinople, furnished with explicit instructions.

STILL UNDER CONSIDERATION.

FLORENCE, Nov. 19th.—The collective vote of the great powers to Russia is still under consideration by the Italian Government.

TURKEY WILL ENERGETICALLY RESIST.

LONDON, November 20.—Advices from Constantinople show that the Porte is preparing to make most energetic resistance to Russian pretensions.

ASPECT MORE PACIFIC.

BRUSSELS, November 20.—It is thought here that the aspect of Russian difficulties is more pacific.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

CITIZENS TO BE EXPELLED FROM PARIS.

LONDON, November 19.—A Paris balloon letter says Trochu intends shortly to force from the city ten thousand half-starved citizens, for whom he cannot longer provide food.

ARMISTICE AGAIN URGED.

Dispatches from Tours state that England, with the approval of the Provisional Government, has renewed her proposals for an armistice, based upon pecuniary war compensation, the rasing of the frontier fortresses and neutralization of Alsace and Lorraine, the Great Powers guaranteeing the fulfillment of these conditions by any future French government. A Congress is to assemble to settle these questions, and also to deliberate upon the Eastern question.

GERMAN MAILS ATTACKED—GERMAN UNITY NEGOTIATIONS.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Telegrams from Berlin yesterday say the German mail convoy from Cologne to Sedan was attacked on the 16th near Bouillon by Franc Tireurs and compelled to take refuge on Belgian territory. The same day the mail from Sedan to Cologne was also attacked and compelled to return to Sedan.

A dispatch from Munich, Thursday night, says the negotiations that were carried on at Versailles have been finally concluded. The treaties will be signed in a few days. The constitution of the Bund has undergone important modifications. Bavaria is allowed to enter the confederation upon her own conditions.

RECENT ARMY MOVEMENTS.

A telegram from Tours of Nov. 18th states that a detachment of Gardes Mobile, belonging to the army of the centre, under General Tierch, which was advancing from Le Mons along the line of railway from that city to Chartres, reached Dreux, thirty-five miles southwest of Versailles, where they encountered the Seventeenth division of the German army. Being outnumbered the detachment fell back upon the main body. This engagement has nothing to do with the army of the Loire, which at last advices had fully completed the turning of the German right. The German force which encountered the Gardes Mobile, near Dreux, was marching from St. Germain to join Von der Tann.

It is unofficially reported that General D'Aurelles does not propose to make a further advance, but having secured an extremely strong position, will await attack by the combined forces of Prince Fredrick Charles and Duke of Mecklenburg. He continues to receive reinforcements of all arms daily. Yesterday a very strong train of field artillery and a large body of cavalry moved from Tours to join him. His strength is greater even than reported. An official statement shows his army numbers nearly two hundred and fifty thousand men, with a daily addition of 5,000.

GENERAL WAR NOTES.

LONDON, November 19.—The French report that several skirmishes have lately taken place around Paris and toward Tours, in which the Uhlans were repulsed. The towns of Petrichet, Bois and Fourigers have been burnt.

A strong Prussian column arrived between Rosney and Bellicote.

Garibaldi, disregarding all protests, has retired from Dole.

Military executions for mutiny are common in the French lines.

Several French frigates are cruising about in the North Sea and English Channel. The German ship Estafette, returning from the South Sea, entered the port of Havre, where she was promptly seized, the officers not having heard of the war.

The Tours government has published a statement that German shipping has nearly been driven from the Pacific Ocean as well as the South Sea by French cruisers.

On Wednesday a sortie was made from Montmedy by two companies of Gardes Mobile. Every one of them was either killed or taken prisoner. The Prussians now confine the bombardment to the fortress of Montmedy.

Russell's pamphlet, just issued, has been suppressed at the suggestion of his friends.

Rumors continue of the proposed concentrated attack on the Prussian positions before Paris by the French, attended by a sortie from the city. The time fixed for this grand move is said to be next Monday or Tuesday.

Gen. Hazen has left Versailles for Germany. It is denied that his journey had or will have a political character.

PARIS MUST FALL.

BERLIN, November 19.—American Generals at the Prussian camp say Paris is doomed. It must fall before the 15th of December.

DISASTER TO THE ARMY OF THE LOIRE.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A telegram from Tours says rumors are afloat of disaster to the Army of the Loire. No particulars received

THE GERMAN ARMY MOVEMENTS—FRENCH COMMANDER FAILS IN HIS STRATEGY.

A Tribune special correspondent telegraphs from Prussian headquarters, via Epernay on the 18th: Yesterday General Manteufel was at Rheims with the First and Eighth army corps, marching by divisions toward Amiens, with instructions to direct his course southwestward, in case of a heavy attack by the army of the Loire. None of his troops shared in the fight of Dreux. The designs of Paladines was, reinforced by infantry, to turn the flank of the Fifth Corps at Versailles and operate on weak points of the German lines between St Germain and Argenteuil, where a sortie from Mont Valerien was to support his attack. He had marched north from Chateau Dun on the line to Chartres and Chateau Neuf, expecting thus to keep far enough west to avoid being intercepted. He was, however, met by the Duke of Mecklenburg with a part of the 5th and 12th Corps and 5th Cavalry Division and 22d Infantry Division, which had been hastily gathered from the Paris besieging forces and from those which marched on Orleans. The 2d and 4th Cavalry Divisions were held in reserve near Epernon. The French were driven back to Chateau Neuf and beyond. The First Bavarian Corps, Gen. Tann commanding, was arrested at Etampes in their march on Orleans, and forced toward Ablis; but as the French fell back south-westward the Bavarians are expected to continue their southward movements, in which the second and fourth cavalry divisions will support them. Prince Frederick Charles was at Troyes, commanding the 3d, 9th and 10th corps. The 10th corps was working towards Dijon by Chatillon sur Seine, the 9th onward towards Auxerre, while the 3d, via Sens and Fontainbleau, connected with Gen. Tann, of the third army. The commander and above named in connection with the affair at Dreux were stationed as follows: The Guards at Dreux and Genlis concentrating on the latter; 4th corps at Saint Brice; 12th at Le Fort Gallant; the 22d Infantry Division at Coubrange; 20th at Lepin; 12th Artillery Corps at Ville Pussie, and 12th Cavalry Division at Chantilly, the latter support Manteuffel. All of these are for the seige of Paris, but the following have orders to the contrary and will be ready for southward movements, to support Tann, if necessary. The 2nd Bavarian Corps, now at Sceaux; 6th corps, now at Ville Neuve Le Roi; 11th, now at Boissy, and Wurtemburg division, now at Villiers sur Marne. How they will march depends on the line of the French retreat from Dreux and of the expected French advance from Chateau Dun. Prince Frederick Charles waits to co-operate.

A special correspondent of the Tribune at Versailles on the 18th inst., says: "It is believed the French will make no sortie at present from Paris. The army of the Loire has withdrawn southward to avoid being shut in between the German armies marching against it."

The spirit of the German troops around Paris is excellent and their health very good, considering the cold and damp weather. [illegible] Food continues plentiful among the Germans. The market prices at Versailles are much greater than a month ago.

Though not definitely concluded, the negotiations for the Union of Germany are regarded as safely brought through the critical state. Several German statesmen have returned home.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Independance Belge, says vessels will be bought in the United States with money due for the northern possessions.

A correspondent at Amiens telegraphs, the 20th, that an engagement took place yesterday at Vovel, near Fergnier, between French volunteers and Prussians. The latter were strongly entrenched and the volunteers retired. The French commandant was wounded and Capt. Petit killed.

The camp at St. Vierren was fired this morning.

A combat is imminent in the direction of Beauvais.

THE NEW DEMAND FOR ARMISTICE—GLOOMY PICTURE OF THE GERMAN SITUATION.

LONDON, November 20.—My dispatch last night concerning the new demand made by England, through Odo Russell, for an armistice, was confirmed to-night by the Observer, which says the negotiations for an armistice are opened on a basis which promises success.

A correspondent of the same paper, writing from Versailles, 15th, gives a gloomy picture of the German situation. It seems no bombardment of Paris is possible before next spring, as the heavy guns have not yet been brought up owing to the muddy roads. They are constructing entrenchments in the rear to guard against attack of the French. The hospitals, too, are said to be in bad condition and filled with sick, who die rapidly and their places immediately filled with new victims. The principal diseases are pneumonia and small-pox. The French continue, with incessant activity, throwing up new works and arming them with guns, whereof they seem to have an inexhaustible supply. They are digging rifle pits, also apparently constructing mines. Ominous silence has prevailed for some days in their large forts, and there has been very little firing. Great bodies of troops are expected every day on the plains in front of Mont Valerien and on the peninsula bounded by the Seine and on the roads leading south of the city. Large quantities of vegetables are still in fields around the city and parties are every day engaged in digging them and conveying them inside.

AN ARMISTICE ALSO DEMANDED.

LONDON, November 19.—Lord Lyons, at Tours, has given the Government to understand that Odo Russell is instructed not only to demand explanations on the subject of the new attitude of Russia, but also to firmly demand a bona fide armistice, which will permit France to hold elections.

Not one word of news has been received from Paris since the 9th.

Col. Garibaldi, nephew of the General, is at Lyons, where he has formed a new brigade of volunteers and completed Garibaldi's staff.

GERMANS REPULSED.

ROUEN, Nov. 19, via LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Germans attacked Dreux to-day, but they met with a vigorous resistance from the National Guards and retired to the environs.

PRUSSIANS SURPRISED—ALL KILLED OR CAPTURED.

TOURS, November 19—Midnight.—The following official dispatch has been made public: The Prussians at Chattelon were surprised by a party of Garibaldians, under Ricciotti and all were either killed or taken prisoners.

A GREAT DEMONSTRATION FOR THE REPUBLIC.

A special dispatch from Tours, 19th, says: A great Republican demonstration was made here to-night. Crowds paraded the streets and proceeded to the Hotel de Ville, where all the speakers declared their willingness to die for the Republic. Gambetta addressed the crowd, saying they should do more than get up demonstrations and they should abstain from bombast and shouting.

BISMARCK HAS NO SECRET UNDERSTANDING WITH RUSSIA—PRUSSIAN PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS.

BERLIN, November 20.—Odo Russell has received assurances from Bismarck that there is no private understanding between Russia and Prussia on the Black Sea question. It is asserted that Russia has declared her willingness to grant very extensive military furloughs to allay the uneasiness of the people.

Bismarck will be represented in the North German Parliament by Herr Delbruck. The results of the Prussian elections are as follows: Conservatives, 129; free Conservatives, 38; old Liberals, 20; national Liberals, 104; left centre, 18; Fortschritt, 41; Poles, 19; Particulars, 6; Catholics, 43; and undefined, 22.

GERMANS RETREATING, FRENCH ADVANCING.

LONDON, November 20.—A dispatch from Tours reports that the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg and Gen. Von der Tann are falling back while the French are advancing and threaten to outflank them both. It is thought that Gen. Manteufel will march to the Loire.

The ground in the departments of Orne, Eure and Sarthe is covered with snow.

A commission of enquiry is to be called to try Marshal Bazaine.

The Moniteur declares that the deliverance of the country from invasion must precede any election for General Assembly, but the Anti-Republican press of France denounce this course.

The Moniteur says the Captains of the German merchantmen captured by the French naval forces will be treated as prisoners of war.

FIGHTING AT DIFFERENT POINTS.

LILLE, November 20.—There was a fight yesterday in the department of Aisne, between a French force composed of Francs Tireurs and Mobile Guards and a Prussian detachment moving from Tergny. The French finally retired in good order. The losses on both sides were about equal. There was a similar encounter on the same day near Menisse, in which the French were driven back.

A skirmish at Guissy, near Las Forte, is also reported.

At Sarcion, on the 16th, an engagement took place in which the Prussians lost two hundred killed, wounded and prisoners, and fifteen of Francs Tireurs were wounded and one killed.

The French losses in the conflict before Montmedy have been serious.

The Situation in Europe as Viewed by Secretary Fish—Alabama Claims—Political Outlook—The McGarrahan Claim—Examination of Midshipmen—The New French Minister.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19, 1870.

SITUATION IN EUROPE.

Secretary Fish said yesterday that the recent news from Europe indicates that Russia is really in earnest in her endeavors to abrogate the provisions of the treaty of 1856, which relates to the neutrality of the Black Sea, but thinks war will not inevitably follow. He thinks it possible, and quite probable, that the result will be a Peace Conference of all the Great Powers of Europe, at which not only the Eastern question, but possibly the Prussian-French war question may be settled. Under existing circumstances, however, the future of Europe is purely problematical, and there may be other influences at work which may produce astonishing and unexpected results. In the event of a Peace Congress it is not certain that the existing Government in France will be disturbed or destroyed. The strength of the new Republic lies with the people themselves, and a fortuitous peace without the cession of territory will be equivalent to a guarantee of its future existence. The Empire is at an end and the only Government that can follow the Republic is a Kingdom.

Communications with France are at present very brief. Minister Berthemy is recognized here as the legitimate and only responsible representative of the French Government. Minister Washburne has been used by our Government as a medium of communication for important matters. But notwithstanding the length of the war, there have been but few subjects of importance requiring his mediation. His recognition of the French Republic was not premature, but in pursuance of orders, and his present course is thoroughly in accordance with the wishes of the Administration.

The election of the Duke of Aosta to be King of Spain will not materially alter her Cuban policy. Spain, though slow in diplomacy, in other respects is quick to accept war, and the future of Cuba is not worth a war to us.

The policy of England toward her provinces has always been just, and continues to be honorable.

GEN. BUTLER AND THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

General Butler's scheme for the annexation of Canada as incident to the settlement of the Alabama claims as detailed in his Lowell letter simply means war, for England would not submit to it without a struggle. The Alabama claims will be settled at the proper time, perhaps very soon. The main objection to the Johnson-Clarendon treaty was that private claims were included in the protocol. The Alabama claims are held by us to be of higher importance and more grave dignity than any mere private claims, because they involve some very important questions of international law which cannot be settled by an ordinary convention or a mixed claims commission, such as is required for an adjustment of the latter. In regard to the threatened rupture in the Republican party, the Secretary said that the revenue reformers claim more than they can prove, and a reduction of the public debt, together with a reduction of taxation, will satisfy the people better than the glittering promises which the investigation shows cannot be fulfilled. Senator Schurz is an able man, but if he still professes to be a supporter of the administration he certainly has a strange way of showing it.

THE M'GARRAHAN CLAIM.

It is reported that a Senator is drawing up a resolution based upon the Grant-Cox correspondence to introduce in the Senate as soon as that body meets, providing for a thorough investigation of the alleged corrupt use of money by William McGarrahan, while trying to get a patent for disputed land claims. Some rich developments are anticipated, and those who claim to be perfectly familiar with the inside history of this case aver that the investigation will disclose astounding corruption on the part of officials, some of whom are in Congress.

THE MIDSHIPMAN CLASS.

The Board of Naval Officers which has been in session for some time past at Annapolis, for the final examination of the midshipman class of '69, who had made the practice cruise in the United States ship Sabine, sent in its report, which is not very creditable to the scholastic or nautical acquirements of the young middies. Out of forty examined nineteen were found to be deficient.

RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES.

The assumption in England that Russia and the United States have a secret understanding does not appear to have good foundation. The President this afternoon, on being asked as to the truth of the London telegram on the subject of alleged dispatch to Secretary Moran in reference to the Alabama claims, replied that the first he had heard of the matter was in the morning papers.

NEW YORK COLLECTORSHIP.

There is no truth in any of the reports that Collector Murphy, of New York, will be removed, nor of his resignation having been tendered. There is authority for stating that the official conduct of Mr. Murphy is thoroughly sustained by the administration in every particular.

HAD AN INTERVIEW.

Senator Schurz had a long interview with the Secretary of State to-day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20, 1870.

THE FRENCH MINISTER DIFFICULTY.

The following are the facts concerning Viscount Friehard's movements:

When he arrived at New York, eight days ago, from Chili, he announced the fact by telegraph to Minister Berthemy, who, by his request, immediately repaired to the Department of State to ascertain whether he would be received as M. Berthemy's successor, having in his possession credentials received from the Emperor's Government. The Secretary informed M. Berthemy that Viscount Friehard could not be received, as a new de facto government had now control of French affairs, and therefore it would be necessary to procure from it proper authorization. The question was asked whether a telegram from the government at Paris would be sufficient, to which the Secretary replied in the negative, saying that this would be a departure from usage or from the course always pursued in such cases. Several days afterwards Viscount Friehard came to Washington, and called, in company with M. Berthemy, on Secretary Fish, who unofficially invited him to his house and there took occasion in the course of the conversation to explain to him, as he had previously explained to M. Berthemy, the reason why he could not be received as Berthemy's successor. The new Minister expressed himself satisfied with the explanation, and informed the Secretary that he had taken measures to procure the required formal credentials from the Paris Government, which will be forwarded by Jules Favre. The Secretary was subsequently advised that the credentials are now on the way to Viscount Friehard. Therefore, when they shall have arrived, Viscount Friehard will be received as M. Berthemy's successor.

MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE.

M. on the 28th inst. Cards have been sent to members of the Cabinet and foreign representatives in Washington

Ohio Navigation Interests.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, November 19.—The Times this evening says the United States Engineers appointed to examine the Newport and Cincinnati Bridge have prepared a report on the subject which will be adverse to that structure.

The Committee appointed to visit the Louisville Canal, with reference to securing an early opening, have returned. Though they have not submitted a report, it is understood they returned satisfied that General Weitzel is doing all he can in prosecuting the work, and that it will be so far advanced as to allow the opening by the 15th of December, when boats eighty feet wide will be able to pass, if there is sufficient water.

Though nothing is known positively concerning the intentions of the Directors of the Newport and Cincinnati bridge, it is rumored that they propose to compromise on ninety feet on the present piers and no draw. To so raise the bridge would increase the cost, the bridge men say, four hundred thousand dollars. The river interest claim that the Government engineers have discovered that one of the piers is located in the middle of the natural channel.

The Vanderpool-Fields Homicide—The Jury Fail to Agree.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

DETROIT, November 19.—The jury in the Vanderpool murder case at Kalamazoo, after being in close consultation twenty-two hours and twelve minutes, has announced to the Court that they were unable to agree on points of evidence and that there was no prospect of an agreement. The counsel for the prisoner argued for an immediate new trial and the vindication of their client, or that he be discharged on bail. General McCutcheon, for the prosecution, stated that the case was not a proper one to let to bail, and neither do they deem it at all proper to enter a nolle prosequi. It remains, then, that there must and should be a new trial, but it is next to impossible for the people to recall all their witnesses and to resume the trial at once. The court has taken the matter under advisement, and will announce its decision on Monday morning. The interest in the pending questions is intense, and pervades all classes of the community. It is understood that the jury stood seven for conviction, and five for acquittal.

Mr. Avery has started for the east for the purpose of recovering the body if possible. Mrs. Avery has been subject to fits of mental depression for several years. She disappeared suddenly from her home on Friday afternoon. but it was supposed she had not left the city but had wandered away and had perhaps been cared for by parties to whom she was unknown.

Heavy Criminal Calendar.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 19.—The November term of the Jefferson Circuit Court commences to-morrow and the criminal docket is almost unprecedented in the judicial history of the country. Indictments have been found against sixteen persons for murder whose cases come up for hearing this term. In addition to those there are a number of others which have not yet been acted upon by the Grand Jury. Among all this terrible array of crime there are but four cases the immediate cause of which has not been traced to intemperance.

THE question of the right of whites and blacks to intermarry is to be tested in the Tennessee courts. It seems that an ex-Confederate soldier married a negro woman in Memphis last June and the two were arrested for cohabitating, when they were fined twenty-five dollars each, and had to work it out in the "cabin gang." He now brings suit for $25,000 damages. The State laws prohibit the intermarriage of white and colored persons.

THE following item has been going the rounds of the Kentucky papers: "They marry in Owen county, measles or no measles. The Liberty News appends to the notice of F. H. Brown to Miss Lizzie Conley, this interesting bit of gossip: 'It had been known throughout the town for two or three days that Miss Lizzie had been exposed to measles, which disease she never had. On the morning of the appointed day she was thickly splotched with this disease. Mr. B. had never had the measles, and learned with sorrow, of course, the unwelcome news, but at once, like a true lover and brave soldier, declared himself ready to accept the situation: he would take his affianced and risk the measles. And the bold man did it.'"

THE Mobile Register some time ago published a story to the effect that a gentle shower has been falling continuously over a lot in the Catholic graveyard, where the family of Mr. Victor Lemoine are buried, and nowhere else. Whereupon the Aberdeen (Miss.) Examiner gets off the following: "In the garden of Mrs. Clay, who lives near Loohattan Station, immediately over a small tree, and within a radius of 20 feet, a shower has been falling for the last two weeks, without interruption, and from a cloudless sky. To attempt to explain this phenomenon would be impossible, except upon the hypothesis that owing to the peculiar contour of the ground, a local current of air is created, which bears up the exhalations of the earth in a 'whirlwind column,' to be condensed by the cold currents above, and returned in rain."

THERE is a farm near Roseville, Parke county, Indiana, upon which are situated eight mineral springs, within a circumference of one hundred feet, each of which, upon being clear of pebbles, spouts water for several days to the height of several feet.

HENRY WARD BEECHER had thirteen babies to baptize at Plymouth Church, last Sunday, and of course he made some remarks about it. IN all policies of life insurance these, among other questions, occur: "Age of father, if living?" "Age of mother, if living?" A man in the country who filled up an application, made his father's age 112 years, and his mother's 102. The agent, amazed at this showing, fancied that he had got an excellent subject, and remarked that the man came of a very long lived family. "Oh, you see, sir," replied the applicant, "my parents died many years ago, but if living would be as aged as there put down." Oh, I see said the agent.

THE name of E. J. Pruner, of Tyrone, is mentioned in connection with the office of Auditor General for the next term.

RAMPAGEOUS wild cats roaming through the forrests of Perry county, deter amorous swains from visiting their lady loves. That's bad.

D. KILDES, aged about sixty years committed suicide at Port Carbon, Schuylkill county, on Thursday by hanging himself to the bed-post.

MR. JOHN S. SECHLER, of Lynn, recently shot a wild cat in the woods about a mile and a half back of Steinsville, in Lehigh county. It was about four feet in length and about a foot and six inches in height, weighing 11 pounds.

A. R. MCDONALD, a sub-contractor of the Southern Central Railroad, last week, after drawing two estimates, ran away, as is supposed, for Canada, leaving two laborers unpaid and considerable sums due merchants in Waverly and Athens.

THE well on the Norwood Oil Co.'s tract, about two and a half miles from the river, back of President, is reported to be flowing from two to three barrels per day, and operators in that vicinity are confident that when fully developed this will prove one of the best producing districts in the oil regions.

THE wheat fields of Chester county never looked finer at this time of the year than they do now. The ground is completely covered and matted over with a most luxuriant growth. In many places it is eight to ten inches in height, and some of our farmers contemplate pasturing their fields, and only hesitate now in consequence of the ground being soft. They prefer it shall be eaten off when the ground is frozen hard.

ON Saturday of last week an explosion of gas occurred at Miller's Coal Mine, (Kennedy's old works) which resulted in the serious injury of three persons. The gas escaped while Harry Rodgers was tamping the blast, ignited by his lamp, and fired, burning him very badly—scorching his face, mouth and tongue, so that his life is imperiled. Robert McMasters and his little son, engaged in the driving entry, were also burned; the boy quite severely, the father painfully.

GENERAL John E. Gross, a well-known and highly esteemed citizen of Montgomery county, died at the Trappe on Sunday week. He was a representative in the Legislature of Pennsylvania some thirty-five or forty years ago, and his father, Hon. Samuel Gross, represented Montgomery county in Congress. Deceased was seventy-five to eighty years of age. He had been manager of the Perkiomen and Reading Turnpike Company for many years.

THE employes of the South Bethlehem rolling mill have adopted a general scheme of cooperative relief, based upon contributions from each man employed, determined in amount by the sum received from the company as wages. By thus collecting on the basis of equal assessment, the burden falls equally upon all, and the amount of good resulting is almost beyond computation. The object of this benevolent fund is to afford relief to unfortunate companions in distress arising from inability to work, either from illness or other causes.

BETWEEN New Hope and Centreville, in Bucks county, there is a spring, known as the "Ingham Springs." This spring has always had some local celebrity, which will be increased by its being converted into a fish farm by J. B. Thompson, its present owner. He has already some trout in the spring, which, by next spring, he expects to increase to from five or ten thousand. The spring has capacity it is supposed, to supply ponds stocked with 300,000 trout and 100,000 pair of young salmon. Mr. Thompson has volunteered to hatch salmon spawn and place them in the Delaware river next spring. The arrangement of the farm has been made under the direction of Thaddeus Norris, of Philadelphia.

THE late term of the Susquehanna county Court was principally occupied in the trial of a very important case, L. Quick vs. The Susquehanna and Wyoming Valley Railroad and Coal Company. The plaintiff claimed an heirship title to some coal lands occupied by the company—two lots worth about $1,000,000. The case has been tried in Luzerne county, and was taken to Montrose for a rehearing. After an eight days' trial, the jury gave a verdict last week for the plaintiff to recover one lot, styled the "Miner Lot," containing 283 acres, which may be safely considered worth at least $500,000. The Court granted permission to the defendants to file an application for a new trial within four days.

ANOTHER proof of how unfathomable is human folly has just been furnished by a workman at Antwerp who undertook to eat a petit verre after drinking its contents. It need scarcely be said that in a few minutes the mouth of this idiotic wager layer was full of blood, and that he was conveyed to the hospital in agonies from the broken glass he had swallowed.

AN OPPORTUNITY
Seldom Offered
Is now opened for Investors and Capitalists to buy the guaranteed Second Mortgage Six per cent. Bonds of the Indianapolis & Vincennes
RAILROAD COMPANY,
Guaranteed by the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, as the following able opinion will explain for itself, to-wit:
NEW YORK, July 16, 1870.
GENERAL A. E. BURNSIDE. DEAR SIR:—We have examined the two contracts of guaranty, dated 1st of July instant, executed by the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., and deposited with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., by one of which the Pa. R. R. Co. guarantee the payment of the principal and interest of the exchanged or substituted bonds secured by the first mortgage of the Indianapolis and Vincennes R. R. Co. to Edward Pearce and William Goddard, Trustees, for $1,700,000, and by the other, of which the Pa. R. R. Co. guarantee the payment of the principal and interest of the second mortgage bonds of the Indianapolis and Vincennes Railroad Co. for $1,450,000, and we are of the opinion that these guaranties are in proper legal form to bind the Pennsylvania R. R. Co.; that that Company is fully authorized by law to enter into such guaranties, and that the bondholders in case of need, can bring suit in their own names respectively, on the guaranties with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company for their benefit.
Yours, respectfully,
[Signed.] [illegible]
We concur in the above opinion.
[Signed.] [illegible]
Only a LIMITED FEW of the above bonds remain unsold, at the fixed rate of 90 and accrued interest from May 1st. They have 30 years to run, pay 6 per cent. interest per annum, semi-annually; and, being GUARANTEED by the PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, makes them as desirable an investment as the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway bonds, guaranteed by the same Railroad (P. C. R. R.) Company.

BONDS at Frankfort 92¼.

THE crown of Spain has gone a begging to the Duke of Aosta. He will accept it, and doubtless prove a wise and beneficent ruler.

WE TAKE occasion to thank those friends in several of the adjoining counties who have so kindly interested themselves to increase our circulation and to introduce the GAZETTE into new localities. Our subscription lists are rapidly growing larger, while our advertising patronage is now greater than it was ever before. For these things we are duly thankful, and hope to long continue to merit the confidence and patronage of our friends.

THE New York World, in a long article on the Schenck-Campbell controversy, took the ground that even if the soldiers' votes were improperly set aside, yet that would not entitle Schenck to the seat. That there was not the slightest proof that a majority of those votes would not have been cast for Campbell. To this the New York Tribune replies:

"The World may possess its soul in patience. The case is just as strong on that point as on every other. It will be proved that these men went to the polls with ballots for Schenck in their hands, which, on Vallandigham's demand, were illegally rejected, to the number of three hundred and forty-eight, while the majority by which Schenck was reported defeated was only fifty-three."

WHEN the ex-Queen (Isabella) of Spain was a fugitive in France, a monarchy embodying fifteen centuries of struggles, patriotisms, victories and grandeur, had actually been destroyed. On the 3d day of October, 1868, Marshal Serrano entered Madrid in triumph. From that hour, Spain has been a Republic, and for over two years, what was once considered the grandest dignity of Europe, has hunted for a master to accept. It has at long last found it in Prince Amadeus Ferdinand Mario, Duke of Aosta, the second son of Victor Emmanuel. The Duke of Aosta was born in 1845, and is therefore in his twenty-sixth year. Prince Amadeus has been Captain of Infantry, a Lieutenant General of Cavalry and Vice Admiral of a squadron of the Italian fleet. This sums up pretty much all of his record. Whether his is the master-hand needed by Spain, is yet to be demonstrated. Certain it is, if he can extract order out of the almost chaotic condition of the present Spanish government, he will reap a fame his efforts will have well deserved.

THE DENIAL of Senator Schurz, that he is in sympathy with the movement to break up the Republican party, and form a new party, is good for just what trouble it may have cost him to utter the words, and no more. If Senator Schurz is honest in his denial, he should have stated emphatically and explicitly, the ground he occupies on the question of free trade. There was no real contest in Missouri relative to enfranchisement. There was unquestionably a difficulty in the regular convention with reference to introducing a resolution regarding enfranchisement, but it was well known at the time McClurg was nominated, that he was just as strong in favor of enfranchisement as Brown. But Brown was for free trade, and McClurg was a protectionist, and this fact was acted on by the Democrats who voted for Brown. It will not do for the Senator to assert that the Republican party of Missouri decided in his favor, for it did not, nor will it on the questions of protection and free trade. The fact is, that Senator Schurz feels he has made a grave error, and that the off-year has not been productive of the fruits he anticipated. It matters little to us how closely the Senator may have hitherto been allied to the Republican party in its great strength, if he endeavored to make political capital out of his individual opinion, adverse to the Republican party, he was certainly outside of it while doing so even should he find it better to come back.

HANLON.

Hanlon, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree. Our readers are all probably well aware, that he was charged with the murder of Mary Mohrman, a little girl of only some six years of age, under circumstances so brutal and fiendish, that "pity must stand dry-eyed" over the murderers fate. More than once, aye over and over again, have we been called on to record the violent deaths of little girls, through crimes as black and devilish as that of Hanlon, and it is time that swift and certain punishment should fall on the offenders. Hanlon's fate, should his merited punishment be meted out to him, will be one he justly deserves, if murder deserves hanging as a penalty. There were phases in the trial, that were not pleasant. Hanlon's confession, made to a prisoner in the same cell with him, almost a stranger, and without any reason except to be communicative, was one that should, and no doubt was, very cautiously received. The hope of a pardon, for the testimony the fellow-convict might adduce, was unquestionably a terrible temptation to swear falsely, if it was necessary, but able counsel and learned Judges, sifted that testimony so thoroughly, that all other opinion than that it was true, was set aside. A motion, for a new trial, as usual in all such cases, was made by the counsel for the prisoner, and the reasons will be filed in a few days. The jury were out some thirty-six hours, and gave their verdict in [illegible]. The penalty is a fearful one, and from the whole character of the trial, it is evident that Court and Jury alike, were determined that the prisoner should only be convicted after every avenue of legitimate escape had been closed.

NEWPORT AND CINCINNATI BRIDGE CO.

Every day the facts disclosed in connection with the Newport and Cincinnati Bridge Company, are more and more damaging to the integrity, honor, and honesty of that Company. The letter signed by four of our most estimable citizens, giving a plain unvarnished account of the understanding and agreed upon, cannot be disputed, and shows conclusively that the Bridge Company has neither honor nor honesty. Messrs. Gay, Walton, Blackmore and Brown were a committee at Washington in 1862, to urge the passage of a general law for the bridging of the Ohio River. While there, they met the late Judge Headington, who represented the Newport and Cincinnati Bridge Company, and the proposition was made by him, to the committee, that the said bridge should have four hundred feet spans and be as high over the channel as the Cincinnati Suspension Bridge, and if the committee would assent to this, the Bridge Company would unite with the committee in having a general law passed to this effect. With this understanding, the committee called on General J. K. Moorhead and requested him to make no objection to the bill.

Here was a plain and positive agreement, and the bridge company has violated it in every particular. We have before stated, how utterly impossible it will be in any ordinary good stage of water, for boats to pass this obstruction, and we intend to speak of it hereafter. But for the present, we only desire to call attention to the fact, that it originated in the basest kind of deception, and that from such an origin really nothing more could be expected from the company, than fraud and deception in the future. The gentlemen composing the committee above named, stand too high in the estimation of our people for their statement not to be accepted at once as literally true, and we have no doubt that a further expose of this outrageous attempt to stop the navigation of the Ohio river, will disclose conduct on the part of the bridge company equally base.

REFORM AND DEMOCRACY.

Mr. Mahlon Sands, President of the Free Trade League, New York, has had a levee. Among the prominent callers, we find the names of the editors of the Chicago Tribune and B. Gratz Brown. The proposition mooted among these gentlemen, was the one we have already alluded to, of forming an alliance between the Revenue Reformers and the Democratic party. The calculations made at the meeting, gave the Democrats and Reformers a majority of some thirty votes over the Republicans, in the next House of Representatives, and if the alliance can be made, General Logan is to be made Speaker. There is, however, a condition annexed to this proposition which may embarrass these manipulators. It is not quite certain yet that Logan would accept, but even if he does, he must enter into stipulations before the contract will be considered binding. Logan must agree to give the Committees, especially the Committee of Ways and Means, a free trade character. The further argument is, that if such an alliance can be effected, Schenck will not be able to get his seat, as against Campbell. There were several other propositions, but the difficulty that seemed to exist, was that the Revenue Reformers were not exactly satisfied with having the Speaker, but wanted the Presidency. In this, however, the Democracy were unyielding, clinging stoutly to Hoffman. We are looking forward to the end, with a confidence arising from our observations hitherto, that if the Revenue Reformers do so far forget themselves, as to strike hands with the Democracy, by the time they are through, they will be about as badly cheated a set of men, as the people have any desire to laugh at.

PROTECTION.

While Democracy is flooding the country with pamphlets recommending the efficacy of Free Trade, the Republican party is doing nothing—absolutely nothing—to bring before the people such facts as would relieve their minds from the impressions willful misstatements have placed upon them. Through the anxieties of the Democrats to secure the off-year, an issue was brought before the people, that while it was not an element of the campaign, was made one of them. The question in this way has been raised, and it will not do for Republicanism to sit idly by, relying on what it has done, as the sole reply to the new issue raised by the Democracy.

On the subject of the Tariff, there is necessarily more ignorance, than on any other question almost, that can arise. The advocacy of Free Trade, is a blind leap into the dark, without the light of experience or observation to guide or direct. Free Trade is the exception to the rule, and not the rule itself, and there is no one mad enough in his folly, to suppose it is to the interests of any one nation, to advocate and adopt free trade, while all other nations are guarded by protection. England and the United States, even if both should thoroughly adopt the free trade system, could not become else than beggars, if they alone were Free Traders, while all other nations imposed such a tariff as would protect home industry. Republicanism in favoring protection, has every advantage, both in illustration and in facts. It is unwise to allow our country to be flooded with false arguments, pretending to demonstrate that protection means imposition on workingmen, without the slightest effort to disprove it, and yet to call on the thousands of laborers who support Republicanism, to still vote for the party, for what it has hitherto done.

It is of the working men we write. The manufacturer can take care of himself. Most of them could even afford to shut up their forges and mills, and bide patiently the hour when want and hunger, loss of trade and general ruin of manufacturing interests, would teach all classes the fallacy of free trade ideas. Indeed we know that there are some manufacturers who urge the idea, that now is the time for these free trade ideas to have their full sway. That the loss that would accrue in two years time would be satisfactory evidence to most men, and that the manufacturers of to-day could bear to close their mills and forges for even that length of time. But the advice is bad and with all deference to those proposing it, we think such propositions must come "from hearts as tough as Esau's hands." What, if their belief be the true one, will become of the working men in those two years. It has been estimated that ten million persons are directly, supported by our manufacturing establishments. In Pennsylvania alone 400,000 persons are employed in, and 1,200,000 persons supported by, our manufactories. The question is, therefore, a workingman's question, and the cry over the money made by the manufacturers is but a sensational one, calculated not only to mislead but to color and prejudice a fair view of the whole case. If the manufacturers were alone concerned, the employers alone to be affected, there might not be so great a reason for the Republican party taking up arms against the illiberal policy proposed by the Democracy. But when in Pennsylvania over one million of mouths would probably go "an hungered" under a free trade policy, the magnitude of the question not only presents itself, but the necessity of the Republican party bringing before its supporters the true principles of protection and the consequences of free trade, becomes at once apparent.

It is to workingmen all arguments of free trade are used. It is to them the appeal is made against "monopolies" and "monopolists." It is to them the argument is used that a tariff "robs the poor man while it puts more money in the pockets of the rich." Colonel Eldridge, a Democratic candidate for Congress in Michigan, said in one of his speeches, "what does the poor sewing women in your city, shivering in her garret, care about the removal of the tariff from ipecac and belladona, when there is a tax of one dollar and a quarter on coal." To this there was loud applause. The sympathies of his hearers had been aroused, and they inferred from the words uttered by the Colonel, just what he wanted them to think, but which he not only did not say, but we presume dared not say. But he worded his sentence so as to convey the idea, that the poor women in the garret, was compelled to pay one dollar and a quarter more for coal, than she would have done if the tax had not been on coal.

But the facts are widely different from what the Democratic nominee would have induced his hearers to believe. About two thirds of the coal imported into the United States comes from Nova Scotia. It is true that in 1866, a duty of $1,25 a ton had been imposed. Does the poor sewing women have this to pay? We pick this out of many of the false "rhetorical flourishes" with which free trade pamphlets are filled, because it comes home to the door of every man and woman. It is with Cumberland coal that Nova Scotia coal comes most directly in competition. Cumberland coal at Baltimore in 1865, when there was no duty on coal, was $7,87 per ton. In 1866 a duty of $1,25 was placed on coal. Now the argument of free trade is that the "poor sewing woman" would have one dollar and twenty-five cents more to pay for a ton of coal in 1866, than she had in 1865. That is that her coal in 1866 would cost her in Baltimore $9,12. But instead of that it was but $6,05 per ton, or $1,82 less than before the duty was imposed. In 1867 it was $4,97, in '68 $4,71, in '69 $4,97 and in '70 $4,60. So that while the eloquent Colonel was appealing to the audience, and declaring that the duty made her pay $1,25 more, she was actually paying $2,97 less per ton.

Now is there the slightest excuse for the misrepresentation, because even the purchasers of Nova Scotia coal, do not pay the increased price of the duty. In 1861 Nova Scotia coal sold in Boston at $4,67. In 1865 it sold at $9,60. There was no duty on it, but gold was at a premium of 57. But even reduced to the amount of this premium Nova Scotia sold in Boston at an advance on the price of 1861 of $2,27. In 1866 the duty was placed, and in 1870 Nova Scotia sold in Boston at $6,00. Gold was at a premium of 15 and reduced to the amount of the premium, it would sell in 1870 at only an increase of 64 cents over 1861, including the duty in 1870, of $1,25.

These facts show that Col. Eldridge was talking for effect. That his pity for the sewing woman was false, and that his position is not tenable. But this is the character of argument free traders are distributing all over the country, and it becomes the duty of the Republican party to protect working men by meeting these false statements wherever made, and disproving them. We urge upon Republicans to place before our working men plain facts, from which they may be prepared the better to determine the dangers to them that will follow thick and fast on any adoption of free trade.

BRIEF TOPICS.

A SOLDIER'S MONUMENT.

Governor English, Charles Ives and William R. Shelton were appointed in 1868 the commissioners to obtain plans and secure the erection of a monument at the Evergreen Cemetery, Hartford, in memory of those slain in the late war. During the last year the work has been progressing, and on Friday last the monument was erected in the soldiers' lot. The monument is a square one thirty-five feet high, with the statue of a soldier surmounting. It is of Westerly granite, and rises in the shape of a pyramid. The east side of the die bears the following insription.

Erected A. D. 1870.
by the State of Connecticut, to commemorate the service and perpetuate the memory of the Two Hundred and Four Union Soldiers, who died in the Knight Hospital,
in New Haven,
in the years 1862, '63, '64, and '65,
and were buried in these grounds.

Upon the plinths are carved the United States coat of arms, blended with the Connecticut coat of arms. Underneath this is the state motto of Connecticut, Qui Transtulit Sustinet. On the main shaft are carved several memorials of battle, cannon, flags, &c., and upon granite blocks dividing the main shaft the following words are engraved; Fort Fisher, Chickamauga, Malvern Hill, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Antietam, Vicksburg, and Newbern.

A NEW SILVER MINE.

The Corning Democrat reports the discovery of a silver mine in the southwestern part of that town:

"About the first of May last a Mr Nivison, of Watkins, who has devoted a large portion of his life to the study of geology and mineralogy, became convinced from repeated experiments that the hill contained mineral deposits that would pay for investigation Mr. Nivison procured a lease of the land and proceeded to excavate, hoping to quarry stone sufficient to pay expenses. But this hope proved futile—parties in need of stone would rather buy it of some other man than do anything to assist an enterprise in which they had no faith. Only one man was found whose faith led him to take hold and assist in carrying the enterprise to a successful issue, and that man was Joseph Holienbeck. Joseph had faith, and now there is exposed to view a lead five feet thick and thirty feet wide, of black stone which we are assured contains a large percentage of silver, copper and lead. Professor Hall, state geologist, visited the mine last week and gave it as his opinion that the rock contained mineral in considerable quantities, and took specimens with him for examination. A small quantity has been smelted in a common crucible, and the result proves satisfactorily that the quartz is rich in mineral wealth. The object now is to have a proper assay to determine whether it will pay."

BACKWOODSMEN.

Near the head waters of the gloomy Ausable and along its banks, in the wildest part of Michigan, there are vast stretches of timbered country alive with buffalo, bear, and deer, where every year colonies of sportsmen and woodsmen migrate in pursuit of game and timber. But little is known of this curious woodland life, but that little indicates a life of curious experience and romantic incidents. A sportsman who entered this unknown country early in the Fall writes of the manner and method of hunting and working. When the tasks of the day are ended, the party gathers about a merry course of baked fish or fowl, the whole garnished by appropriate and healthful edibles in such variety as the country affords. The evening meal ended, a grand hunting foray generally follows, and before midnight three or four buffalo, as many deer, and innumerable smaller game are brought in as the fruits of the hunters' skill. This game is sent down the Ausable river to market in boats, and provisions and necessaries returned by the messenger. The waters of the Ausable, as its name implies are densely black, deep. though icy cold and run at the rate of ten knots an hour, enabling the boatmen to paddle down in a day where it takes a week nearly to work up stream.

ARKANSAS.

A gentleman just arrived from Little Rock, Arkansas, estimates that there are now twenty-five thousand acres of good cotton standing in that neighborhood, ready to be picked, but that cannot be until midwinter, owing to the absolute impossibility of securing labor. The price offered is a cent and a cent and a quarter to a cent and a half per pound for picking. It is our impression that a good hand will make from fifteen hundred to eighteen hundred pounds a week, and that the best field hands used to make considerably more than the maximum. There are some Chinese there and in the adjacent region, and they are much liked and very industrious. The colored labor is complained of, first, because it cannot easily be secured, nor in sufficient amount under any condition; and, second, because it proves absolutely unreliable. At the slightest offence the whole body will leave, sure of securing employment elsewhere, and careless while a sufficient support beckons from every side There is an infusion of northern energy and capital there that does not harmonize with this state of affairs The railway activity in the State is wholly sprung from northern capital, and is great and driving. The next question is that of farm and plantation labor that is discussed on all sides, with a growing determination to add to the number of Chinese now on hand.

VELOCIPEDE REDIVIVUS.

The most extraordinary story connected with the defences of Paris is that which asserts that two Americans, Messrs. Reynolds, and May, went to Paris and came out by balloon, for the purpose of making and fulfilling a contract for the supply of velocipedes to the garrison. These machines are to be constructed with india-rubber tired wheels, so that the riders or drivers can move about noiselessly. I do not know if the proposal has been accepted, but it certainly proves that there is no limit to American enterprise. It is certainly very funny and has many points of interest about it, for doubtless the question must now come up whether bicycles are or are not contraband of war? We must also be prepared for curious details in the reports of future engagements, where the number of velocipedes captured must be set side by side with guns, muskets and mitrailleuses. They will certainly be less expensive in the long run than horses, and the gallant officer who has three or four of these vehicles shot under him can be more easily consoled for the loss of his chargers by the reflection that a blacksmith and a wheel-wright will be able to set his stud in order at a very trifling cost.

BARBARITIES.

The N. Y. Tribune says: The story so often repeated by telegram of French sufferings from the excesses of the Prussian soldiery only shows, if it be a true one, that the mollification of the horrors of war of which, in modern times, we have been accustomed to speak, has not been so great after all. But the French are the last people in the world, with their record, to complain. As warriors, they have always shown but scant courtesy and little mercy; and have accordingly, been detested, throughout modern history, for employing every engine of destruction without pity or forbearance, But the evil is in the system of making war at all. War means misery cruelty inflicted; and those who take the sword must perish by the sword.

A DARING DEED.

The feat of the five Uhlans who captured the large and wealthy city of Nancy, the capital of Lorraine, and levied there a heavy contribution, has been surpassed by three Prussian dragoons who were sent to reconnoiter, but losing their way came at last to the town of Raon l'Etape, about twenty-five miles from their lines. When they entered the town the whole population rushed out of doors to look at them, shouting "The Prussians! the Prussians!" The three dragoons smoking their cigars, rode very coolly to the Mayor's office, asked for the Mayor, who had to take them to the telegraph office, where they unscrewed the entire telegraphing apparatus, which they carried off on their horses, dashing back at full speed. This bold coup de main, however, had a tragical after-piece, although not for the three dragoons. Hardly had the dare-devil dragoons turned their backs on the town when the commander of the French gens d'armes at that place blew his brains out, stating in a letter that he would not survive the disgrace of a town of more than eight thousand inhabitants surrendering in this manner to three dragoons.

HORRIBLE.

The Echo du Nord brings an account of a horrible outrage committed by peasants in the Department de la Gironde, on the person of a former prefect and wealthy land owner, M. Ode Moneys, a strong adherent of the Emperor. The population of those districts are all Bonapartists, and some malevolent person had accused M. de Moneys of having shouted: "Hurrah for the Republic! Down with the Emperor!" Besides this offense, he was accused of having sent money to the Prussians. After the poor man, who is only twenty-nine years old, had been maltreated in a horrible manner, the infuriated peasants dragged him to a neighboring field, piled heaps of brushwood over him, and set them on fire. As the wood was green and would not ignite readily, a bundle of straw was fetched and thrown on the burning brush. The torments of the victim lasted over two hours. Only some charred bones were left of him The priest of Hautefaye, the place where this horrible scene was enacted, was driven back and beaten with clubs, when he hastened to save the unfortunate man. The Government of Tours has sent some commissioners with troops to investigate the matter, and some of the guilty persons were arrested and will meet with the punishment they deserve.

LORD NAPIER.

The hero of Magdala is appointed to the command of the English armies. This bluff, gallant, energetic old soldier, will have a chance, if war should ensue, to show that advanced years are not inconsistent either with valor or celerity in the field Much of the ill-success of France has been attributed to the fact that nearly all of her general officers were too old to render that service which younger men could have given. This criticism over-looked the seventy years of Von Moltke, as well as Von Steinmetz's removal for exhibiting too much of the impetuosity which is supposed to be the peculiar privilege of youth. Age cannot dim the fires of some natures, and if Napier leads the stubborn soldiery of Britain in the contest that threatens, we look for campaigns as marked by vim, endurance, rapid movement, and indomitable "go aheadativeness" as was that which terminated in the reduction of Magdala and the death of Theodorus.

HAIR INVIGORATOR.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman says he has under his care two invalid ladies. "One has been paralyzed on the right side for nearly three years, and has been utterly helpless most of that time. Her vision has been very imperfect; her knowledge of past events has utterly departed from her; recently she appeared to be recovering her recollection, and can count with tolerable accuracy up to twenty." He attributes her prostration entirely to the use of a popular hair restorer. "The other case is not so bad, but bad enough. For the past year her eyes have been an occasion of constant torture. The retina has become so sensitive to the light as to make a dark room indispensable. Wheels of burning flame revolve constantly before her eyes, attended by lightning-like flashes, which are terrible to bear. She is another victim to the poisonous lead contained in the same popular nostrum."

AN ARBITRATON.

The steamer Lloyd Aspinwall, it may be remembered, was illegally seized on the coast of Cuba, was detained at Havana for over three months, and was then released only on peremptory demand of the United States Government. The owners of the Lloyd Aspinwall then prosecuted their claim against the Spanish Government for damages from the detention of the steamer, and the matter was referred to a commission jointly appointed by Secretary Fish and the Spanish Minister, Senor Roberts, The commissioners were John S. Williams, of Williams & Guion, and Senor Juan M. Cellabos, a Spanish merchant of New York, Dr. Johannes Rossing, the North German Consul General was umpire. The commissioners disagreed and the decision was referred to the umpire, who awarded the sum of $19,700 in gold as damages. It is stated that this is the first award rendered as damages against the Spanish Government on account of its interference with the commerce of the United States during the insurrection in Cuba.

A CURIOUS SALE.

At Trenton, N. J., recently French's Circus and Menagerie was sold at auction and the denizens of that quiet capital were able to learn what was the market value of various singular things. For instance, the elephant "Empress" was sold to a Philadelphian for $5000, a price which could not be gotten for the baby elephant, which was consequently withdrawn, as the proprietor would not sell so large a head of cattle for the paltry sum of $3400 which was the highest bid. One man paid $5200 for thirteen double humped camels and $400 more for a baby camel. A performing pony brought but $55, while two Shetland ponies sold for $200. The rest of the performing horses of the stock brought from $100 to $375, while the star horse sold for $935. The Behemoth of Holy Writ, the sacred cattle and the wild yak of Tartary were not sold, as they unfortunately belong to another establishment.

JUSTICE TO A GENERAL.

The Staats-Anzeiger publishes a letter, to the following effect, from the German headquarters in Versailes: In consequence of the explosion of the powder magazine after the capitulation of Laon, strong suspicions were entertained that the commandant of the place, General Theremin d'Hame, was the author of this treacherous act, or at least an accomplice in it; an assumption countenanced at the time by the exulting articles of the French press, which was not ashamed to laud a base violation of military honor and the laws of war as a heroic and patriotic deed. It is now established, after official inquiry, that there is not the slightest ground to suspect the good faith and honor of Gen. Theremin d'Hame; the explosion seems to have been the mad act of an artillery inspector, who has since been missing. As Gen. Hame succumbed to his wounds on Oct. 4th, it is only justice to his memory to make this circumstance publicly known.

FRENCH IMAGINATION.

The North German Correspondent says: The French journalists certainly deserve more praise for the boldness of their imagination than for their scrupulous adherence to truth. A new proof of this was lately furnished by an article entitled "Berlin in Mourning," which appeared in the Union. We are told that 3,000 women in black dresses lately marched past the windows of the Queen, crying: "Peace! Peace!" Indeed, the war has made 14,000 widows and 20,000 orphans in Berlin. The Constitutionnel thinks this ought to encourage the French to continue their resistance to the last, and consider it a sign that, though Prussia may be able to strike a heavy blow she cannot continue a long and severe war. For our own part, we are inclined to look upon it as a sign that some French dramatist, who is out of employment in consequence of the closing of the Parisian theatres, has turned his hand to journalism, and we cannot but compliment him on the very striking tableau with which he has furnished the Union

THE POOR INDIAN.

Lewis Downing, principal Chief of the Cherokee Nation, has appointed to-day November 17th, as a day of fasting and prayer for protection against the United States, this action, in the Chief's opinion, being rendered necessary by the action of Congress, which has set aside the treaties made with the Cherokees, and sold to speculators their lands secured to them by those solemn instruments of writing. The proclamation, it is believed, is one of the most piteous papers ever issued. The Head Chief, in despair of justice from men, calls upon his people to ask protection from God. He says that the Cherokees lie powerless in the hands of the Government of the United States, which can bring the weight of forty millions of people and untold wealth, power and skill to crush them. He says that avaricious men threaten the annihillation of the treaties with the Cherokees; and that they will become the victims of capricious leg slation and unjust administration. He asserts that at present the citizens of the Cherokee Nation are arrested by U. S. Marshals, dragged to prison in a foreign State, arraigned before a foreign court and acquitted or condemned at the caprice of judges and jurors of a strange tongue, in a foreign land, who have no sympathy with the Cherokees, and no regard for their rights or liberties.

A TEMPORARY JOB.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writes from the Sandwich Islands:

Renewed efforts have recently been made to collect the lepers on the islands, and the result has proved that this frightful scourge is on the increase. The government is to be blamed for this, as the efforts which are made to isolate the afflicted are a mere farce. In this district about fifty were found, out of which number thirty were selected, the remaining twenty being allowed to return home upon promise to return monthly for examination. In other words, they were permitted to go at large to sow the seed for a new crop of lepers As several whites have contracted this disease, some alarm is felt lest more should suffer. How it is contracted by foreigners is a question undecided. Several cases have been found in the schools for natives, male and female. A gentleman who had a promising half caste girl in his family as help was told by a physician that the girl undoubtedly had incipient leprosy. When it is considered that the girl had charge of the gentleman's children his dismay can be imagined. The girl was immediately sent to her father and mother and they were warned of the danger, and for a time kept her from the rest of a family of children; but after a time their vigilance slackened and the girl was allowed to mix with the family, and now another promising daughter is afflicted. So it goes; the only hope for another generation of Hawaiians seems doomed to extinction. The care of the lepers is nothing more or less than a "job." by which a ring is making a good business.

VACCINE.

The Medical Department of the Privy Council of Great Britian has recently taken up with great earnestness the question of animal vaccination, with a view to its adoption or rejection in England, according as it may seem to possess any special advantage over the present system. Commissioners were sent to the continent of Europe in 1869 to ascertain how far the vaccine disease might be transferred from animal to animal without difficulty, and to learn the character and course of the disease produced in the human body by inoculation with animal lymph. From the reports on this subject which have just been published, it appears that the system of animal vaccination is so very liable to constant failures that it cannot be recommended for adoption. The proportion of failures is reported to be twenty times as great as in the ordinary arm-to-arm operation. The calf lymph also is peculiarly liable to spoil with keeping, and human lymph is now sent out exclusively from the large establishments which furnish the vaccine matter.

STRIKES DENOUNCED.

The Boston Advertiser says: It is said that at a recent session of the Grand Lodge of the St. Crispin organization in this city, it was voted there shall be no more strikes having the support of the order, and that the attention of the organization shall be turned to co-operation. There is excellent sense in this decision, if it has indeed been made as reported. The strikes of the Crispins have lately come to nothing, and re acted to their own injury; their political power has been shown by last week's election to be seriously on the wane; but, on the other hand, the one experiment which has been made in the direction of cooperation has had the most enouraging results. But there is added to this statement of the action of the secret session another, which indicates that the councils of the shoemakers are not yet purged of folly, to the effect that the lodge intends to petition the Legislature for direct financial aid from the State Treasury to further its new and virtuous purpose. A class of men earning from three to six dollars a day by their trade should be above asking asking alms of the taxpayers of the Commonwealth for any object; and we cannot believe that they will make such a demand in earnest.

PLAY BEFORE EATING.

The Philadelphia Press says: It is stated that there were over twenty five fatal accidents resulting from base-ball playing in the season which is now drawing to a close. From our experience and that of others we have read of, we see no reason why this statement should not be a truthful one. As it appears to be a hopeless task to preach down base ball, even when it is played for money, or any other game in which bodily strength and agility are cultivated and exhibited, we give it up, and print the following extract merely as a piece of advice. It is from the London Medical Times and Gazette, good authority by the way, and refers to a young man whose death had been caused by peritonitis, the result of rupture of the small intestines in consequence of his having sustained a severe blow in the epigastrium from the elbow of an opponent in a game of football: "One such, on the present occasion, would be never to play with a full stomach. We are not aware that the young gentleman whose case we have seen recorded had eaten a meal shortly before playing, but we are certainly of opinion that the risk of rupture or contusion of the abdominal viscera would, as a rule, be much less if the intestines—particularly the small—were empty rather than distended."

DE PALADINES.

The Philadelphia Press says: "General Aurelles de Paladines, the victor of Orleans, is now fifty-three years of age. The major portion of his life has been spent in the service of his country. His conduct in Algeria, twenty-five years ago, received high praise, even from Cavaignac.

"When approached by the agents of Louis Napoleon, when the latter contemplated his coup d'etat, Paladines resisted all their efforts to draw him into their plans. While other young officers allied themselvs to the fortunes of the Imperial adventurer he remained true to his republican faith. For this he was afterwards distrusted by the Government, and while officers of inferior ability and who had seen less service were entrusted with marshal's batons, Paladines could not rise above a simple brigadiership.

This was his rank when the empire went under at Sedan. France had suffered a series of the most humiliating defeats, and Paladines was still the inferior of many of the corrupt and incompetent generals who owed their stripes to their devotion to the person of the Emperor. Casting about for leaders to command its embryo armies, Paladines was selected by the Republic as one in whom reliance could be placed. He was entrusted with an important command, and has already demonstrated his patriotism and ability to handle large bodies of troops, qualities which the Imperial marshals have failed to exhibit. His victory at Orleans has infused new life and courage into the the drooping heart of the French nation.

NEW ROME.

The first impression of Rome under its new regime was delightful to us. The beautiful new fountain in the Piazza beside the railroad seemed a fitting prelude to the free city we had entered. We decided that the story of the Sleeping Beauty is not a nursery tale, but a beautiful allegory, and we were reading its translation. Even the gamins were turned into very respectable newsboys, crying in most musical tones. Our Italia, of which one copy could be received, and that but occasionally at the Consulate, came rushing down the street in company with the Nazione, whose Roman correspondent never went to bed, last year, with very bright hopes of a night's sleep undisturbed by the police. Here was the Reforma. of which if a copy was ever smuggled into the city the fact still remains unknown to you correspondent. Here were the Gazetta d'Italia and the Independence Italiena, whose very existence was unknown to all a month ago. And then there were the new Roman journals. Their name is legion, besides which a few bear the Christian name of Gazette del Popolo, Roma Nuova, La Capilate. Il Romano. Il Tribuno. Il Miglioramento, Don Pirione and Pasquino, and as many more, which I will spare your readers. The two latter are comic journals.—[Cor. N. Y Eve. Post.

TELEGRAPHY.

Mr. Parton, in a sketch of Samuel F. B. Morse, in the N. Y. Ledger, says "what an astonishing business the telegraph has attained in the United States! We have one company, the capital stock of which is forty-one millions of dollars, and the receipts during the year 1869, seven millions and a half, of which more than two millions and a half was profit. This company has 191,595 miles of wire, 3460 stations, 3607 instruments for reading by sound, 1334 recording instruments, and 22,000 magnetic battery-cups. It transmitted last year 40,000,000 messages and an amount of newspaper matter equal to about 80,000 columns of the N. Y. Ledger. There is one telegraph office in the city of New York in which 125 operators are employed, and you may see them at work if you stop at the corner of Broadway and Liberty street. It is not unusual for this office to receive and send 30,000 messages in one day. Not far from the Ledger office, there is a small sign-board over one of the cable offices, which, I should suppose, Mr. Morse could never read without emotion. It is this:—

"Telegraph messages sent to all parts of Europe, Asia and Africa."

AN OLD FOGY.

A disgusted parent writes from Yale: "I brought my boy here, an only child, thinking that he might do as well at Yale as anywhere else, but the aspect of affairs has greatly changed since I was a student, not, as it seems to me, for the better. The boys are a deal more cubbish and lubberly than they used to be, especially those of the younger classes. Evidently they are no gentlemen, and, if their fathers belong to that category, they must have neglected their offspring in childhood. My son, who, while at home in Virginia, was a simple-hearted, natural lad, shot like a sportsman, rode like a dragoon, and made love to all the girls within a circle of thirty miles, is now an odius young prig, who talks the slang of the college, and is constantly quoting "our fellows." He belong to all sorts of societies, and is covered with medals and tokens of membership. He may come out all right but the chances are against such a result.

Died Abroad.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10, 1870.

Information has been received at this Department from Mr. Owen M. Long, the Consul of the United States at Panama, of the death, on the 14th day of July last, at sea, of Andrew Wilson, third officer of the steamship Guatemala; also of the decease at sea of Leonhard Fernstrom and P. K. Miessell, passengers on board the steamship Colorado. The former died July 14, and the latter September 12, last.

The deceased "were supposed to be American citizens." Their legal representatives can obtain further information by addressing this Department.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8, 1870.

Information has been received at this Department from Mr. S. T. Trowbridge, the Consul of the United States at Vera Cruz, Mexico, of the death, on the 2d day of August last, at Alvarado, Mexico, of William H. Thompson. The deceased was a citizen of the United States.

SOME changes have recently been made in the United States assessment districts in Montgomery county. Three of them have been abolished, and Assistant Assessors John Potts, of Norristown, A. W. Shearer, of Norristown, and William Vansant, of Montgomery, retire from the service. The county is now divided into three districts. The lower end, as far as Norristown and Lansdale, is under the charge of Samuel S. Comly, of Hatborough; the northeast townships are under Samuel E. Nyce, of Zieglersville; and the extreme north and northwest is looked after by Alexander Malsberger, of Pottstown.

The True Value of a Thing.

Experience by those who have tried and been cured by a remedy is one of the best tests of its merits, and while we would not wish to speak disparagingly of other remedies, we would encourage all those who may be afflicted with recent or chronic diseases of the lungs or air passages to try a bottle of DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE. It is exceedingly valuable both on account of its healing virtues and the support it gives the system while it cleans the blood. It heals the lungs and strengthens the system. No remedy that we are aware of has superior claims to public confidence. Dr. Keyser's principal office for lung examinations and the treatment of chronic diseases, No. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh. If your druggist does not keep it, send five dollars to Dr. Keyser, and he will send four bottles securely boxed, by express, with full directions how to use it.

SMALL NATURE BE SUSTAINED!

To give debilitating medicines to the weak is about as sensible as it would be to try to help a man to his feet by kicking him when he was down.

That sort of practice is going out of fashion. It has filled so many graveyards that people no longer believe in it.

If those who are not strong by nature expect to avoid the attacks of disease, they must endeavor to acquire the vigor necessary to resist it.

How is this to be done? Common sense suggests by the use of invigorating medicine.

The great object is to STRENGTHEN THE SYSTEM WITHOUT EXCITING IT.

This object is accomplished by the judicious use of the most potent and genial of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Many valuable properties are combined in this preparation. It improves the appetite and renders digestion easy and perfect.

It gives steadiness to the nerves, induces a healthy natural flow of bile; prevents constipation without unduly purging the bowels; gently stimulates the circulation, and by promoting a vigorous condition of the physical system, promotes, also, that cheerfulness which is the truest indication of a well-balanced condition of all the animal powers.

Summer leaves both the body and the mind more or less exhausted. Now is the time to recruit them, and thus to forestall the malarious fevers and other epidemics which prostrate so many thousands every Fall.

THE DAILY GAZETTE.

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, Nov. 19, 1870.

Money has been more easy the last half of the week, and especially so to-day. The demand for loans was urgent, and the street brokers were more largely supplied with paper than we have seen them for some time past. No. 1 names, however, were not plenty. The character of paper outside of the regular banking houses is not of the highest order, and the rates paid are frequently beyond what a prudent business man ought ever to pay.

The amount of business in stocks has been but small during the week. Prices do not seem to be in accord with the growing closeness of the money market. The few bank stocks which were sold, brought very nearly the highest prices of the season.

Allegheny Valley 7-30 bonds were in demand at 90 to-day. There is nearly five months of accrued interest on them.

Connellsville 7's are quiet at our former quotations, 90 asked; no bids.

A lot of Allegheny Valley bonds (new extension,) can be bought at low figures. They are a good 7 per cent bond issued to the Mahoning branch, and should be worth from 82 @85.

Columbia oil stock is dull at 10⅛@10⅜.

In answer to various inquiries about Dalzell Co., and the delay in the expected dividend this month, we have good authority for stating that the company have the money in hand necessary to make the usual dividend. A difference of opinion within the Board, however, makes it doubtful whether a dividend will be declared. It is intimated that some of the board favor using the accrued earnings to purchase additional territory; in what part of the oil regions it is not stated. We are quite confident that a vote of the stockholders would negative that proposition by a large majority. "Messrs. Directors, we want economy in management, a careful husbanding of resources, and payment of dividends, be they small or large, as fast as they are fairly earned. Speculations in new territory we are content to leave to other hands." Such is the language to us of a Pittsburgh stockholder.

The eastern markets have recovered tone a little to-day, though the feeling is not entirely reassuring. Gold at 112⅛ indicates either the absence of sensational cable rumors, or a growing conviction that a general European war is not imminent.

Government bonds are dull at about ⅛ per cent. below yesterday's quotations. Stock market quiet, sales light.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 19, 1870.

Cotton receipts for the week, for all ports, were 122,[illegible]; exports, 57,556 bales. The recent decline in whiskey and general depression in this particular trade has caused the suspension of some houses in the liquor trade, heretofore in high standing. One rumor has gained much circulation that a wholesale and retail grocery firm, identified with the business interests of New York city for a long series of years, had failed. It could not, however, be authenticated. In regard to the recent alleged frauds in revenue in the matter of false weight at the Custom House, a report was current that the firm whose books were seized had compromised with the Government officials for [illegible]. It is stated that a confidential detective of the Treasury Department at Washington is in the city watching closely both Government officials and merchants.

Bank statement is an unfavorable exhibit, but on being analysed is not so bad as it seemed. Banks now hold [illegible] reserve above the 25 per cent. required by law against [illegible] last week. Loans [illegible]; increase $1,567,156. Specie [illegible]; increase $455,734. Circulation [illegible]; decrease 79,346. Deposits [illegible]; decrease 1,720,531. Legal tenders [illegible]; decrease $1,115,246.

The money market is somewhat irregular. At one time it was in more demand and steady at 5 to 6 per cent. on call, but at the close loans were made at 5 to 6, with exceptions at 3 per cent. with leading government dealers.

The imports at this port for the week are: Dry goods $1,[illegible]; general merchandise $4,[illegible].

Sterling quiet at [illegible].

Gold lower; opened at [illegible], touched 112⅝ and 112⅛, and closed steady at [illegible].

Loans [illegible] for carrying; flat for borrowing. Clearances [illegible]. Exports for the week [illegible].

Governments higher and strong. Coupons: '81, [illegible]; [illegible]

State bonds dull and weak; Missouri, 90⅛; Tennessee old, [illegible]; new, [illegible]; Virginia new, [illegible]; North Carolina old, [illegible]; new, [illegible].

Stocks—After Bank statement was known there was a general decline of ⅛.

Canton [illegible]; Cumberland Coal, none; Western Union Telegraph Co. [illegible]; Quicksilver [illegible]; Mariposa [illegible]; do. preferred, [illegible]; Adams Express [illegible]; Wells Fargo [illegible]; Merchants Union Express [illegible]; United States Express [illegible]; Pacific Mail [illegible]; New York Central [illegible]; Harlem [illegible]; Erie [illegible]; do. preferred [illegible]; Reading [illegible]; Michigan Central, [illegible]; Cleveland & Pittsburgh [illegible]; North Western [illegible]; do preferred [illegible]; Rock Island [illegible]; New Jersey Central [illegible]; St. Paul [illegible]; do. preferred [illegible]; Wabash [illegible]; do. preferred [illegible]; Fort Wayne [illegible]; Terre Haute [illegible]; do. preferred [illegible]; Chicago & Alton [illegible]; do. preferred [illegible]; Ohio & Mississippi 31⅛; C. C. & C. [illegible]; Burlington & Quincy [illegible]; Lake Shore [illegible]; Indiana Central [illegible]; Illinois Central [illegible]; St. Joe [illegible].

Receipts—Coin customs for week, $2,[illegible].

Disbursements—Coin interest, $[illegible].

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, November 19, 1870.

Trade in general merchandise has been moderately active during the week which has just closed, business generally leaving been about all that could be expected, though it might be a good deal better. There is a steady consumptive demand for all of the leading commodities, while in regard to values there has been no important changes, none at least deserving of special notice.

APPLES—Continue rather dull though prices remain unchanged: [illegible] for fair to prime, and [illegible] for choice.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales at [illegible] cts per gallon, as to quality.

ASHES—[illegible] soda ash, [illegible] refined, [illegible]

BEESWAX—Sales at 33 to 35 cents.

BEANS—The receipts are increasing and the market is easier, though prices are unchanged at [illegible] per bushel.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is dull and cannot be quoted above [illegible] per cwt.

BROOM CORN—Quoted at [illegible].

BUTTER—The market is well supplied and the receipts continue large, we continue to quote at [illegible] for prime, and so far as we can learn there is very little commission butter, no matter how good it may be, bringing over [illegible], notwithstanding some dealers allege that they are getting [illegible].

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged. Western Reserve, [illegible]; Ohio Factory [illegible]; Ohio Goshen, [illegible]; New York Goshen, [illegible].

CRANBERRIES—Very irregular, ranging all the way from [illegible] per bbl, the outside figure for [illegible].

CARBON OIL—Standard brands 25, in a jobbing way, [illegible] for small lots.

CIDER—Is selling all the way from [illegible] per bbl, as to quality.

COAL—Sales of Anthracite at $8@9⅛ per ton by the car load, delivered.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at $2 [illegible], and Calcined Plaster at $4⅛ per bbl.

CHESTNUTS—Scarce, market bare; would bring $9 or $9,50 per bushel.

DRIED FRUITS—Quiet and unchanged. New crop Peaches, 8@9c for quarters and 10@11 for halves. Apples, 7@8c; sliced 9@9⅛. Blackberries, 13@14.

EGGS—The demand continues light, and the supply, notwithstanding it is by no means large, seems to be fully equal to present requirements. We continue to quote fresh at 31@32; pickled at 25@28.

FEATHERS—Demand [illegible] improving but there is no change whatever in prices: No. 1 live geese, 83@85—in small lots, 88@90.

FLOUR—The market continues strong and and somewhat excited, though as yet, and it is owing mainly to a strong local competition, there has been no advance. In the west there has been a sharp advance within the past few days, and an upward movement here seems almost inevitable. We continue to quote western flours at $5,75@6,25 for spring; $6,00@6,50 for red winter wheat and $6,75@7,00 for white. Rye flour $5,25@5,50, in a small way and dull.

GRAIN—There is a continued good milling demand for wheat, and dealers generally are holding for an advance, to which as yet the mills have not acceded, notwithstanding prices are relatively lower here than almost any place in the country. Red may be quoted at $1,15@1,22, and white at $1,30@1,35; some dealers are holding prime red at $1,25, and this is lower than it can be laid down here from the west at present quotations. Oats continue dull, notwithstanding the impression is gaining strength that the bottom has been touched, that prices are not likely, for the present at least, to go any lower; may be quoted at 43@44c, buying, and 46@47, selling, that is for round lots—48@50c for small lots in store. We can report sales of new corn by the car load at 60c, and in small lots at 65c, and there is a continued good demand and very limited supply; old corn is unchanged, at 70@75, buying and selling. Rye is dull and nominal at 75@80—very little offering and not much inquiry for it. The Barley market continues as dull as ever, and what is worse still, there is not much prospect of any immediate improvement. Brewers and maltsters seem to be pretty well stocked, and are not disposed to buy even at quotations; we continue to quote Pennsylvania and Ohio spring at 80@90, and fall at 90@$1.

GROCERIES—The grocery market is quiet and rather dull, and devoid of a single new characteristic worthy of notice. There is a moderate city and country trade while in regard to prices, there are no changes whatever.

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 22; Prime, 21⅛; Good 21; Fair, 20; Ordinary, 18⅛@19; Java, 26; Laguayra, 22. Roasted Coffee loose, 23; in papers, 24.

SUGARS—New Orleans, 11⅛@12⅛ for old, and 13 for new; Porto Rico, 10⅛@12; Cuba, 10⅛@11⅛. Box Sugars, 11@12; Damerara, 12⅛@13⅛. Refined—Standard Hards, 14⅛; A, 13⅛; B, 13⅛; Ex C, 13⅛; C Y M, 12⅛.

SYRUPS—Havemeyer & Elders, 88@90; Loverings, 65@70; other brands, 45@75.

RICE—Carolina, 7⅛@8.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, 85@90 for old crop, and $1,15 for new; Porto Rico, 60@70; Demarara, 75.

HAY—Is being sold from country wagons at $18@25 according to quality and condition.

HONEY—Sales at 30@35 cts.

HOMINY—Small sales at $6@6,25 per bbl.

HUSKS—Sales at 3@3⅛ cts.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at $3,25 per bbl and eastern at $1,75.

LARD OIL—No. 1 Extra, $1,14@1,15, and 80@82c for No. 2.

MILL FEED—Sales of middlings at $1,50@1,75, according to quality. Seconds may be quoted at $1,10@1,30.

ONIONS—Very dull and the supply is large; cannot be quoted above $3@4 per bbl, with but few sales above $3,50.

POULTRY—Live poultry is dull, while dressed is selling pretty freely at quotations. Chickens, live, 50@55c per pair, and dressed at 13@14 cts per lb. Live Turkeys, $1,00@1,25 each; dressed at 15@17 cts per lb.

POTATOES—Scarce and in demand; sales of Prime Lake Shore Peach Blows at 90@95. Sweets remain unchanged at $4,00@4,50 per barrel.

PROVISIONS—Small sales of new crop Sugar Cured Hams at 22⅛c; new crop Lard at 15 cts, in tcs; and mess Pork at $24@24⅛.

RAGS—Quoted at 4@4⅛.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, November 19, 1870.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK.

The oil market has been more active, and at times somewhat excited, during the week which has just closed, owing mainly to the significant character of the war news, and the volume of business in the aggregate has been considerably larger than usual, and there has been the usual fluctuations in prices. About the middle of the week, the cable telegrams reporting that a general European war was imminent, weakened the market very materially, and, as might be expected, caused a very sensitive feeling, but since then, this news not having been fully confirmed, there has been a slight reaction, and while there has not been much change in prices, the market has not been so sensitive and the feeling generally rather better. Prior to the reception of the news above referred to, the market was strong, it is said, under the influence of some New York bulls, who were resorting to all kinds of strategy to bring about a "corner" during the latter part of the month, but that these war rumors have interfered somewhat with their arrangements is almost certain, as the feeling since has not been as strong as it was before. The operations, as will have been noted, have been confined mainly to this month and next; there has been considerable inquiry in regard to "lines" for next year, it is true, but there have been but very few sales, as it was almost impossible to get buyers and sellers together.

Receipts crude this week, 13,693 bbls; last week, 16,543; January 1st to date, 954,900; same time last year, 726,479. Exports refined this week, 22,233; last week, 10,122; January 1st to date, 691,017; same time last year, 529,478. Sales this week, 41,500 bbls crude, 16,000 refined; last week, 28,600 bbls crude, 12,000 refined. From the above it will be seen that the shipments of refined this week are more than double those of last week, and this may be attributed to quite a number of "calls" recently made.

CRUDE.

Market quiet and unchanged. Sales in lots of some 4,000 bbls on spot and this month at 9⅛. December nominal at 9; seller all year 9; seller next six months 8⅞@9; buyer all 1871, 12⅛@12⅜.

REFINED.

Quiet and unchanged. November, 23⅛@23⅜; deliverable on 23d, 23⅜; December, 22⅞@22⅝. Nothing done in "lines" for next year; there is some inquiry but as already noted, it is very difficult to get buyers and sellers together.

CATTLE.

The receipts of cattle were unusually light this week, and with an average demand, the market ruled considerably stronger, and as compared with last week, prices ruled higher, say ⅛ to ⅛ of a cent per pound. The sales since the date of our last report, (on Thursday,) were very small, and operators are inclined to the belief that the receipts for some time to come will be light, as western shippers do not expect cattle to be of much good for a month or two to come. The low price of hogs, comparatively speaking, as well as the great abundance of poultry, will of course lessen the demand for beef, and while now and again, under the influence of an unusually light supply, as was the case this week, an advance may be established, but it will be temporary, as it is not to be expected, in view of the facts stated, that big prices can be maintained.

On Wednesday and Thursday, good to prime shipping cattle sold readily at the advance already noted, sales having been made at 7 to 8 cents—only one drove sold at the outside quotation. Following is the report of sales since the date of our last report, at noon Thursday:

SHEEP.

The receipts of sheep were also light, 45 cars against 56 last week, and with a good demand, the market was strong and prices fully half cent per pound higher. Prime fine wool sheep averaging 90 to 100 lbs brought 5@5⅛; extra do, 5⅛@6—one fancy bunch averaging 120 lbs brought 6⅛; 85@90 lb averages, 4⅞@5⅛. Scalawags, $1,50 per head up to 3⅛ cts per pound. Yesterday and to-day there was very little done, though there never is, as the eastern buyers usually return home on Thursday night. The sales each day during the were as follows:

HOGS.

We noted in our last report that the tendency was downward, and our expectations since have been fully realized. Since Thursday there has been a decline of ⅛ to ⅛ of a cent per pound, and since Monday, fully ⅛ of a cent. The decline was owing mainly to the large receipts, and the increased receipts may be attributed to the advance established last week, as an advance is nearly always followed by increased shipments. The most noticeable feature in the market to-day, was the fact that there was very little difference made between light and heavy hogs, only ⅛ of a cent, and there seemed to be more inquiry for the former than the latter. We now quote at 7@7⅛.

One of our packers, Mr. E. H. Myers bought several droves to-day, amounting in the aggregate to 500, at an average of about 7 cts per lb. These are the first purchases here this year for packing, and while the price may seem a little steep, yet hogs cannot be brought here from the west for any less.

CHARLES L. FROST, }

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago, 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated, will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over the subscription price may be looked for.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties at present prices return only 4⅞ per cent. currency interest, while these bonds pay 8⅛ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the Road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to rebuy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

JAMES WEST, Observer Sergeant.

Mayor Callow had six common cases before him yesterday morning.

The alarm of fire in Allegheny yesterday morning about ten o'clock, was occasioned by some disarrangement in the central office. The engines turned out and turned in again.

Burned.—A small frame building connected with a bakery on Carson street, East Birmingham, caught fire and was burned about seven o'clock Saturday morning. The loss was trifling.

To Change Quarters.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has secured for its office and operating rooms the basement of the new First National Bank building, corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street.

Declines Serving.—We are authorized to state that Chas. F. McKenna declines accepting the position of Captain of "A" Company of the Irish battalion tendered to him at an election held on Friday evening, 18th inst.

Special Bargains at Semple's.—Three cases black poplins at thirty seven and a half cents; three cases all wool felt skirts at one dollar and fifty cents; two bales slightly imperfect gray blankets at two dollars per pair. 3.

For Sale.—18 acres adjoining the property of James Bown, Esq., in Ross township, house, barn, orchard, &c., will be sold for less than its value, if called for before December 1st.

THOS. F. STEWART, 48 Fifth avenue.

Certiorari.—In the matter of the Wilkins township independent school district a writ of certiorari was issued, on petition of Jas. Kelly et al., and the matter will come before the Supreme Court in October next for settlement.

A Serious Charge.—Information was made before Alderman Nicholson, Saturday by Jennie Leslie, charging Dr. Pratt with procuring an abortion upon her. A warrant was issued for the Doctor but the officers have so far failed to find him.

Quintette Club Concert.—It will be seen by advertisement that a second concert is to be given by this club, to come off at the Pittsburgh Female College on Tuesday evening, 22d inst. The friends of the club should strengthen its hands by a liberal turnout.

$9,500 will buy a new house of 10 rooms, barn, carriage house, ice house, etc., etc., with 22 acres of land, an orchard and garden, near Sewickley on the P. Ft. W. & C. R. W., or would exchange for city property.

T. F. STEWART, 48 Fifth avenue.

Body Found.—The body of an unknown man was found floating in the Ohio river, opposite the Beaver County Home, Friday evening. Coroner Corbus, of Beaver county, held an inquest, but there was nothing elicited in the investigation that would lead to the identification of the man.

Fire.—About eleven o'clock Saturday morning there was an alarm of fire from box 27, corner of Grant and Webster streets which was occasioned by a slight fire in the roof of a house on Tunnel street. The flames were promptly extinguished before any serious damage was done.

Thanksgiving Service.—The South Common, Beaver street and North avenue M. E. congregations, Allegheny, will unite on Thanksgiving Day and attend service in the South Common church. Rev. J. R. Mills, of the latter church, will deliver the sermon, and will be assisted in the further exercises by the Revs. T. N. Boyle and C. W. Smith.

A horse attached to a buggy, driven by a boy, took fright Saturday evening about five o'clock at the corner of Sixth avenue and Smithfield Street. Shying to one side suddenly the animal succeeded in tearing off a wheel, bending the axle of another, and throwing the boy out, by which his ankle was slightly sprained. No further damage.

A Correspondent suggests that we request Mr. Edwin Booth to recite the Lord's Prayer at the Thanksgiving Day matinee, in order that our people may learn the grandeur of that composition when properly read. Mr. Murdock has in public repeated the prayer, producing great effect on his audience. It would be neat and gracious to open the performance in that way on that day.

WHITE ASH, P. O., Nov. 16, 1870.

H. M. LONG, Esq.—Dear Sir: At the primary meeting of Penn township, to elect delegates to the late County and State Convention, the delegates elected were instructed to vote against the adoption of the Crawford County System, by a decided majority.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
C. SNIVELY.

The Committee would again urge a prompt response on this important subject from those districts which have been published as not having yet reported.

Sent to Hospital.—Charles M. Mortimer was brought to the Mayor's office, Saturday morning, suffering from rheumatism and asthma. He had just arrived from the west and having no money had been sent to the office from Lang's Hotel. He is a wood carver, and says he had been working in Denver City, Colorado, and through the advice of a Pittsburgher he started to this city to go into Mercy Hospital to be cured. He had a considerable sum of money with him when he started, but had been robbed on his way here. He was properly cared for by the Mayor.

Held for Trial.—Patrick O'Flaherty and Patrick Whalen, charged with illegal voting in North Union township, Fayette county, both voting on one naturalization paper, were brought before Judge McCandless, of the United States Court, for a hearing Saturday. Col. T. B. Searight, counsel for defendants, moved to discharge the accused on the ground that the information charging them with the offense had not been sworn to. The District Attorney held that it did not matter whether there had been any information or not, the parties were present, and the prosecution was prepared to support the charge against them. The Court overruled Col. Searight's motion, and after hearing the evidence in the case, held the accused to bail in the sum of $1,000 each, in default of which they were committed.

We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Work," to be found in our advertising columns. This laughable exhibition has been given in Washington, Philadelphia, and New York on several occasions, and always to the intense amusement of the audience, which was composed in all cases of the most fashionable and refined people of those places.

It is an exhibition that cannot be described to do it justice. Suffice it to say, it has its origin in Dickens' "Old Curiosity Shop," and many of our readers no doubt remember the ludicrous description of Mrs. Jarley's show in that book. The exhibition referred to above is in no way behind the original Mrs. Jarley's show for entertainment, and we advise all who love a laugh to attend. It is under the management of several well-known ladies and gentlemen, and we are sorry to see that they intend giving only one exhibition.

Coroner's Inquest.

Coroner West was summoned yesterday morning to hold an inquest on the body of Patrick Finnessey, at his late residence, No. 184 Spring alley. Mr. Finnessey, it appears, had started to go up stairs to bed about eleven o'clock Saturday night, and when nearly at the top of the stairs made a misstep and fell to the bottom. Dr. Duncan was called, but before he arrived the man was dead. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

New Regulation.

A new rule has been adopted in the Mercantile Library by which all who desire hereafter to play chequers or chess at the rooms will only receive the boards upon application to the Librarian. It has been found necessary to make this change to prevent the annoyance occasioned recently by the visits of some persons who were accustomed to come in during the attendant's absence, secure the boards, and in playing become boisterous, so much so as to disturb all others in the room. This only occurred during the absence of the Librarian, and will by the new rule, it is thought, be broken up.

To Lovers of the Fine Arts.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoenberger have kindly placed their picture gallery at the disposal of the ladies who have undertaken to complete the chime of bells for Trinity church. The gallery will be thrown open to the public on Tuesday next, November 22, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 11 P. M. A small admission fee will be charged. It is earnestly hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to inspect one of the best and most valuable collections of paintings in the country, and at the same time aid the ladies in their laudable enterprise. The entrance to the gallery is by the front door of No. 125 Penn street. 3

Slight Fire.

About half-past nine o'clock yesterday morning there was an alarm of fire from box 12, corner of Liberty and Sixth streets, in consequence of a slight fire in the back part of McClintock's carpet store, Fifth avenue. The firemen responded to the alarm promptly, and by judicious and careful management the flames were extinguished before much damage had been done, and without destroying any goods whatever by water. The fire originated near the heater, but it is presumed to have been the work of an incendiary as the fire had been drawn out of the heating apparatus on Thursday in order to make some repairs to the flue. The loss will not exceed two hundred dollars.

Strange but True.

By reference to our advertising columns of last Saturday, will be found a call by the republicans of the Eleventh ward, of this city, for the purpose of naming candidates for the different local offices to be filled at the coming election. In pursuance of such notice a meeting was held. But after naming candidates for all the different offices, the list was read over and nearly all named respectfully declining and it was found to be impossible to name a ticket that would accept the offices, in consequence of which the meeting adjourned until next Tuesday evening, at 7½ o'clock, at which time all persons aspiring to office are respectfully invited to attend. And in connection herewith we would call attention to our advertising columns, of this morning, under the head of "Wanted."

GREAT EXPECTATIONS.

An Investment and What it Realized—A Sharp Business Man Sold Cheap—He Attempts to Deceive His Friend and Succeeds.

Fortune is a fickle jade at best, and while she is said to "favor the brave," it is not always the most daring or he who risks the most in speculation that wins her favors. Yet the old maxim of "nothing risked, nothing won," is a true one practically. There are numerous methods of risking in these days when speculation is rife and every man is trying to make the most of his "ten talents of silver," or "legal tender," which is just as good, and the most "risky" of all is the lottery ticket business generally. In speaking of lotteries we do not refer alone to those conducted on the "Havannah plan," but to all classes of lotteries, and particularly to those styled

GIFT ENTERPRISES.

Those institutions, so extensively advertised by "posters," "dodgers," and by every other available means, not even excepting the "confidential" letter dodge, by which the recipient is informed that he can "draw a for five dollars," are, perhaps, of all others, the greatest swindles, and more unsuspecting people are deceived by them than any other. It is not always the ignorant who fall victims to this system of swindling, but frequently men of experience who consider themselves sharp business men, and who will drive a bargain with as much tact as a Shylock, are tempted by to "nibble" at the hook, with the hope of being favored by the smiles of fortune, and they, like all others who are foolish enough to invest, find, when it is too late, that "all is not gold that glitters."

A CONFIDENTIAL LETTER

Was two months since received by a well known business man in the old Fifth ward, purporting to come from an acquaintance in New York, informing him, in great confidence, of an investment whereby he could realize handsomely. The circular or letter stated that by forwarding five dollars to the address of the New York friend he would receive in return a ticket, which would "surely draw a gold watch or some other article of equal value." The gentleman receiving the letter, whom we shall call Mr. B., was for the first time in his life, infatuated with the dazzling offer, and resolved to invest. He was still cautious about the matter, and having a very warm friend who runs a drug store not far from Mr. B.'s place of business, who is commonly called Doctor, B., resolved to inform the Dr. of the scheme and take him in as an equal partner. He hastened to the Doctor's place of business, and in great secrecy confided to him and proposed to the Doctor to take stock in it. The Doctor, always ready to turn an "honest penny" to advantage, "bit" at once and agreed to invest half the money and share half the profits. The money was forwarded, and in a few days the ticket which was to draw the was received in return. The Doctor was duly notified of the receipt of the same, and it was then taken by our friend B. and carefully placed away in a secure place, rumor says in the foot of a stocking, which was buried, but rumor is not always to be relied upon. Several days of impatient waiting passed and no word from the gold watch.

WATCH AND WAIT

was the motto upon which Mr. B. acted. He waited for the watch, and on or about the 10th inst. he received another letter, strictly confidential, informing him that the ticket had drawn an elegant gold watch, which would be forwarded by express to his address in a few days. Owing to the value of the prize there would be some which would be marked on the box, and Mr. B. could pay on delivery, as the package would be marked

C. O. D.

B. was in exstacy. He was the possessor of a fine gold watch. True, the watch had not yet been delivered, but there could be no mistake about it. It was perhaps even now at the express office, and might be delivered during the day. But no, the watch was not all his own. Why did he take the doctor into his confidence? He was not the sole owner of the watch, nor would he be unless he could beat the doctor. How could that be accomplished. He struck upon and at once proceeded to carry it into execution. He at once picked up his hat and hastened to see his friend, the Doctor, and informed him that the investment had been a failure, and that the money had been returned, and then proceeded to hand over to the Doctor the two dollars and fifty cents, the amount of his original investment. The Doctor received the money, not very graciously, however, as he remarked—

"A SCHWINDLE BY TAM."

Mr. B., elevated by his success in "closing the Doctor's eyes," hastened home to his wife and informed her that the watch was all his own. He had "schwindled" the Doctor nicely. He was now all impatience. The express wagon was watched for several days, and fully a dozen times daily would he remark to Mrs. B., "the watch will surely come to-day." So matters went on from day to day until Friday, when an express wagon pulled up in front of Mr. B.'s place of business, and the driver cried out a box for Mr. B. Out rushed Mr. B., and seizing the box frantically rushed up stairs, and the driver, thinking him crazy, followed, shouting, "say, Mr., that box is marked C. O. D.; there is a little bill to collect on it." Mr. B., recovering his equilibrium slightly, responded, "Oh yes I had forgotten that; how much is it?"

"NINE DOLLARS AND A HALF."

Responded the express man. Mrs. B. was directed to pay the bill, which she did and then followed her husband up stairs to share in the anticipated pleasure of seeing the long looked for watch.

THE PACKAGE,

Which was a box about ten feet in length by twelve or fourteen inches wide, was carefully opened lest the watch might be injured. The lid was removed, the sawdust removed carefully. Handfull after handfull was taken out and finally Mr. B. caught hold of a smaller box, which he was confident contained the watch. It was carefully opened, and instead

[illegible] GLASS VASE

[illegible] nts was taken out. Friend [illegible] the sell, remarked to his wife [illegible] had been very thoughtful and sent the vase to her. The watch was surely in the bottom of the box. The remaining portion of the saw dust was removed, but still Mr. B. was not willing to admit that he had been sold. The watch he said must be in the saw dust and Mrs. B. was required to procure a seive and sift the dust. It is needless to say what the result of the sift was. He had been and the question now was, how to keep the matter from his friends. Mrs B. enjoyed the joke, and related it to the Doctor's wife, who in turn told the Doctor, and so it went. All day Saturday Mr. B. was annoyed by his friends calling in to inquire the time of day. He bore it manfully until, as he thought, "forbearance had ceased to be virtue," and when the Doctor came in and made the inquiry, B. seized the vase and broke it over the good natured Doctor's head. The Doctor fled, and B. closed up his store. An hour afterward a piece of crape was swinging from the door knob, and a card tacked above it, reading as follows: "Died of Disappointment."

CARELESS WORKMEN.

Cases in Point—Criminal Recklessness—What will Remedy It.

In this fast age the spirit of "rushing things" seems to have taken hold of the people with almost irresistible power, and in some instances it is beneficial in infusing new life and energy into affairs. Yet while this is true, there are cases where a little less haste and more attention to the business in hand, would be very desirable. No class of our people seem to have this spirit more manifest among them than our mechanics, and almost every day adds fresh proofs to the fact that the haste to "get through" prevalent among them, is fast taking the place of what should be the first object—a desire to do the work well. There are instances when this haste amounts to and as such if the workmen will not learn any other way, demand the attention of the law. Witness the case in point, recorded in our columns a short time since wherein a plumber during some repairs at a house in Allegheny, left the gas pipe in such a condition that during the night the gaseous fluid escaped in large quantity; when in the early morning the room was entered with a light an explosion occurred, the house damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars, and a young man so severely burned that for a time his life was despaired of, and when he did rise from his bed he carried with him the marks of the affair, which will attend him the remainder of his days—all brought about by the criminal recklessness—for it was nothing else—of that plumber.

ALMOST BLOWN AWAY.

An instance of more recent occurrence however, though not fortunately resulting in disaster, illustrates what has been said. A few evenings since a large audience in one of our prominent public halls were sitting enjoying a literary entertainment, all unconscious that a few feet below them, was that which, but for a fortunate circumstance would have sent building and inmates,—well anywhere but where they were. During the day some alterations had been going on in the building, the workman had loosened the bricks in the wall and started a flue. Failing to "get through" when six o'clock was announced he left all standing and went home. The bricks he had loosened, were left in the wall and soon after his disappearance the slight jar caused by the tread of the audience on the floor, underneath which they were, caused them to drop out. Falling they struck and knocked a hole in a gas pipe from which at once the gas escaped. It filled the apartment below; none can tell what would have been the result but for a small orifice in the chimney wall through which it escaped to the roof; the leak was not discerned until next morning although it was remarked that that there seemed to be a scant supply of gas to light the hall. All because of the "rush" of a criminally reckless workman to get through. A few minutes longer would have made things safe.

Still another example might be quoted of the workmen, who were constructing a lateral sewer in Beaver street Allegheny, and dug a trench across the sidewalk. Night coming on, they hastened away and left but partially secured—a trap for any luckless pedestrian. Here came one of the Allegheny letter-carriers, and in the darkness failed to see the trap. He fell in, and was severely injured. Two others also subsequently found quarters in the same hole. Their profanity, under the circumstances, might have been a trifle justifiable.

These and similar examples which might be indefinitely quoted, are simply the results of two great haste in doing work. Men seem unwilling to do anything to make the job perfect only "get it done," they say. Time employed in taking precautions against accidents is considered so much lost time.

There should be something done to put a check to this recklessness. The discharge of any mechanic who would thus allow his "haste" to overcome his desire to make things safe, might answer, to a certain extent. But perhaps the most feasible remedy would be perhaps more against all such, than are now in operation. It is not a pleasant idea, while sitting in an audience, or anywhere else, to feel that perhaps a careless workman has been about and left the "marks of his coming" in a broken gas pipe, from which issues that which may suddenly put an end, disastrously, to the entertainment. Neither is the contemplation of possible broken limbs and maimings for life a cheerful view,—because of a workman's recklessness.

If this spirit of carelessness is to be checked laws, stringent and severe, seem to be the only remedy.

The Great Sale Continues.

Owing the fact that a very large stock of dry goods remain unsold, and as the demand for bargains has not yet been fully supplied, Messrs. N. Whiting & Co., the well known auctioneers, have determined to continue the great bankrupt sale now going on under their auspices at No. 61 Wood street, Lafayette Hall building. The consignment of goods was immense, and notwithstanding the fact that the sales have been very heavy, still the quantity of goods held over unsold is very large, affording excellent selection. The prices will be still further reduced this week. We again assure our readers that the sale is a peremptory one and that the goods are all choice, durable and seasonable. Such honest bargains were never before afforded our people. The goods are sold either by the piece or yard to suit customers. We urge those of our readers in need of dry goods to attend the great sale.

WORK HOUSE.

Visit to the Allegheny County Work House—Inspection of the Prison—State of Progress—A Reformatory Institution—Need of Funds.

On Saturday a number of gentlemen, on invitation of the Board of Managers, paid a visit to the Allegheny county Work House, at Claremont. Among those present were: Hon. James Graham, Hon. D. N. White, Hugh S. Fleming, Sheriff of Allegheny county, Hon. Jared M. Brush, Hon. A. P. Callow, John A. Scott, Esq., County Commissioner, Hon. J. R. Kerr, Hon. John S. Robb, and William H. McGee, Esq., County Commissioner. There were present of the Board of Managers, Messrs. Geo. R. White, Geo. Albree, W. S. Bissell, James Kelley and J. P. Fleming.

The visitors arrived at the Work House about ten o'clock, and in the absence of the Warden, Mr. Henry Cordier, were received very politely by Mr. John Wingedger, the Assistant Warden, by whom and the members of the Board of Managers present they were shown through the building and the grounds.

A minute inspection was made of the whole establishment and its surroundings, and the visitors expressed themselves highly pleased with the work so far as it has progressed. They also gave expressions of approval of the manner in which the Institution is conducted.

The east wing, which is intended for the imprisonment of women, is already completed, and is a model of order and cleanliness. There are at present one hundred and twenty eight convicts in the Work House, all of whom are males. There is no accommodation at present for female prisoners, owing to the unfinished condition of the western wing, which it is to be hoped will be completed soon.

At twelve o'clock a steam whistle summoned the prisoners from their labors in the surrounding grounds. The men walked in single file to the house, and after performing their ablutions they marched forward to a platform which connects with the kitchen, and each man was furnished with a large dish of vegetable soup and a liberal supply of meat, and as much bread as he wished to appropriate for his use. The bread, soup and beef were as good, in our judgment, as the best of us get at home. After being supplied with an ample dinner, each prisoner repaired to his cell. One of the officials, or guards, on a signal given by the Assistant Warden on a gong bell by seizing a lever with one easy jerk closed, simultaneously, all the doors on one side of each tier.

The visitors and managers then repaired to one of the private rooms and held an informal meeting. Senator Graham was called to the chair and Mayor Callow was appointed Secretary. Geo. R. White, Esq., stated that $25,000 had been paid for the grounds. There have been received from the county $20,000, and from liquor licenses $168,000, total $188,000, all of which has been expended except $13,000. He stated further, that they would be necessitated to ask the Legislature to enact a law authorizing them to issue bonds to the amount of $100,000. This sum, with the amount derived from the liquor licenses, he thought would complete the wall around the buildings and the workshops. When everything shall have been completed, he believed that if necessary the amount invested by the county could be made to yield six per cent. per annum.

Short addresses were made by their Honors, Mayors, Brush, and Callow, both of whom stated that the beneficial effects of the Work House in diminishing crime were already visible. When they commit a man to labor twice, as soon as he serves out his second term, he generally devotes himself to some useful employment. Addresses were delivered also, by Honors: J. L. Graham, D. N. White, J. S. Robb, Sheriff Fleming, W. S. Bissell Esq. and George Albree Esq. These gentlemen all took the ground, that the Institution should be finished at an early a day as possible. It is believed that it will be a great saving to the county when it goes into full operation. If the western wing, which is designed for males was completed, females could be committed, and their services in washing, sewing, mending &c. would save much outlay that has now to be made.

The brick wall, which is eighteen feet high, is now built about half way around the quadrangular court. Funds are needed to complete both it and the prison, as well as to erect workshops.

Dinner was announced, and the meeting adjourned to the dining hall, where the visitors were furnished with a substantial and bountiful repast.

The party returned to the city about four o'clock.

resolutions.

During the absence of the committee appropriate addresses were delivered by A. M. Brown, Esq., J. F. Slagle, Esq., Hon. John M. Kirkpatrick, Thomas M. Marshall, Esq., and James Veech, Esq.

After which, Thomas C. Lazear, Esq., on behalf of the Committee, reported the following resolutions, which were read and adopted:

Resolved, 1st. That the members of the Pittsburgh Bar have heard with sorrow of the recent death of James S. Craft, Esq., the oldest member of the Bar, having been admitted to practice in the year 1818.

2d. That in a long acquaintance with him, we had learned to esteem him highly for the temerity of his manners, his large business capacity, the accuracy of all the details of his practice, and the fullness of his legal learning.

3d. That we sympathize with his family in their bereavement, and regret the great loss which both they and the public have sustained by his death.

4th. That the members of this Bar attend the funeral of the deceased in a body.

5th. That the officers of this meeting be a committee to communicate these resolutions to the family of the deceased, and cause the same to be entered upon the records of the several Courts of this county, and that the same be published in the daily papers of this city.

The Late James S. Craft, Esq.

EDITORS GAZETTE: The announcement of the death of James S. Craft, has brought to our recollection, an anecdote which occurred when I was a boy, and long before I knew Mr. Craft personally. I was at the time a "printer's devil" in a country printing office and "read the papers;" and my recollection of events at that day is much more vivid than of occurrences of a more recent date.

Mr. Craft was a member of the Legislature from this county, and took a very active and somewhat prominent part in favor of the construction of our canals and other public improvements, and made several able speeches in their advocacy. Among those opposed to the system was a Mr. Martin, who in a speech more especially in reply to Mr. Craft, closed his remark with this quotation:

"Vessels large may venture more,
But little Crafts should keep near shore."

Without a moment's hesitation, and without premeditation, Mr. Craft replied:

"The soaring swallow mounts the upper sky,
The humble Martin dare not go so high."

Mr. Martin was squelched, the laugh was against him. Mr. Craft's repartee had, at least, the merit of originality.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S FIRE.

Sewing Machines at a Discount—An Upholstery Establishment Watered.

Saturday night about ten o'clock a fire broke out in the upholstering establishment of Messrs. Roberts, Nicholson & Thompson located on the second and third floors of the building on Wood street adjoining the new First National Bank building. The fire originated in the third story, and it is supposed was caused by a defective flue. The old wall between the two buildings, when it was filled up last year, was very imperfectly closed in, which made the flues defective. The first floor of the building was occupied by the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine agency. By the speedy arrival of the firemen the flames were confined to and soon extinguished. Messrs. Roberts, Nicholson & Thompson were insured in the Ben Franklin of Allegheny for $4,000, which will more than cover the loss, which was principally from water. The loss to the sewing machine company was also from the same cause. They are insured for $15,000, all in foreign companies.

WILKINSBURG SCHOOL.

The Independent District—Primary Meeting—Nomination of Candidates for School Directors—A Flank Movement.

The citizens of Wilkinsburg and vicinity assembled in the old school house at Wilkinsburg Saturday, irrespective of party, for the purpose of nominating candidates for School Directors for the Independent district recently created by an order of court, the election for which, under the order of the Court, will take place Saturday next.

Dr. James S. King was called to the chair and Messrs. Hugh Turner and Thomas Snowden were appointed Vice Presidents. Wm. Anderson was chosen Secretary.

After some discussion in regard to the method of nominating, it was agreed to place the names of the candidates upon the black board, and each voter was to select from the list six names, and place them upon his ballot. This being done, Prof. Dean and Mr. S. Bridge were appointed tellers to receive and count the ballots. It was arranged that the two candidates having the highest votes should be nominated for the three year term, two next highest for two years, and the two next highest for one year. The ballot resulted as follows:

Dr. John Sample and Wm. Anderson, three years; W. H. Devore and Wm. Turner, two years; Dr. J. S. King and L. B. Davidson, one year.

On motion, these nominations were made unanimous.

AN UNEXPECTED OPPOSITION.

At the close of the meeting it was announced that Mr. James Kelly and other members of the old School Board of Wilkins township, who had strenuously opposed the formation of the new district, had taken an appeal to the Supreme Court, the writ of which was made returnable the first Monday in November, 1871. It was not claimed, so far as the meeting had been made aware, that any errors had been discovered in the proceedings of the lower court, and this appeal had been taken, it was thought, for the purpose of delay and in the hope of defeating the project altogether. The appeal and certiorari will take the record up to the Supreme Court for review, and as it cannot be reached for one year the people of this district will continue to be deprived of school facilities just one year longer than they otherwise would have been. The general sentiment of those at the meeting was that the election, as ordered by the Court, should be held, unless countermanded by the Court itself. The gentlemen appointed to hold the election will proceed as commanded by the Court, unless notified not to do so. It is greatly to be regretted that so important and necessary a work as the education of the children of a whole district like this should be prevented in this manner. But the friends of the measure are more determined than ever to persevere in their efforts until they triumph over every difficulty.

INGRATITUDE.

Woman's Love and Man's Baseness.

[One of our reporters last week asked for the privilege of "stretching" a little on his local items in order to "fill up" the columns and make a "big show." We accorded him the favor, and as a "stretcher" he proved a success as the following local item will demonstrate. He won't stretch any more if we can help it, unless at the end of a rope on his own accord.—Eds.]

Lucius Annaeus Seneca in his rigid philosophy wrote, we think, in his Consolatio ad Polybium that "ingratitude was a grave fault in biped or quadruped" and Tacitus, in commenting on the subject, and dilating on the conspiracy of Piso and speaking of the death of Burbuss, which occurred more than eighteen centuries ago, confirmed and applauded the trite saying of the stoic philosopher, especially when refuting the wicked charge made from out the silver-tongued mouth of Claudius' acting man Suilius to the effect that the author of the saying had stolen many millions of sesterces, which Nero afterwards denied, although he himself compelled the old savan to sever his terrestial connection with the wicked world and take himself off into celestial climes, thus ignoring the justice of the suum cuique principle by bringing to an unhappy close Taedium vitae, but despite the fates, the golden words have not through Time's fleeting years lost any part of their glorious grandeur, but on the contrary, stand out as boldly against the dark and damning crime of ingratitude as do the sharp-cut granites of Senegambia, from the mountain sides in the inhospitable regions of Jallon and Kadoo, nor in the process of Time's blending with Eternity will the classical beauty fade from the expression born away back so far in the dim and obscured past that lives only in the fading tracery of the old historians, whose disappearance from the stage of life, on which all are actors, each playing his part either well or indifferently left not a ripple on the seething current of society, but who may, perchance, be even now calmly looking over the world from the unknown spirit land and weighing its men and measures. With this glorious truth still living, and as eternal as the hills, it was not wonderful that Sarah Malone should have appeared before Aldermen Jones on Saturday to make information against one Patrick O'Flaherty, whose mighty and warlike ancestry sat in regal glory on old Ireland's throne in days of Auld Lang Syne as Burns, Scotland's great poet would say, for stealing a jar of pickles out of her house after she had taken him in drunk off the streets and furnished him with a meal, and all out of pure womanly charity. A warrant was issued. Truly Lucius Annaeus Seneca was right. This world is black with ingratitude, and when not we will sing with Dryden, Annus mirabilis.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Edwin Booth and Mrs. Ettie Henderson to-night commence the second week of their very successful engagement at the Opera House. To-night and to-morrow evening "Hamlet" will be presented. On Wednesday evening, "Richelieu," Thursday evening, "Lady of Lyons," Friday and Saturday evenings, "King Lear." On Thursday, Thanksgiving day, a Booth matinee will be afforded. We hope none of our amusement goers will fail to be present at the Opera House during the Booth-Henderson occasions, for by absenting themselves they fail to enjoy the greatest theatrical treats ever offered our people. Next week the great Joe Emmet, "our Fritz," commences an engagement.

MARIE SEEBACH.—On Saturday night the Academy of Music was again thronged with an intelligent audience, to see Madame Seebach act the part of Gretchen in Goethe's grand tragedy of Faust. As is well known, the heroine does not appear at all during the first act, but Herr Harry played the role of Mephistophiles so admirably that he was enthusiastically called out as the curtain fell. But the true charm of the evening was not felt until Seebach entered, and the first little scene in which she encounters Faust and speaks only the famous couplet,

"Bin weder Fraulein, weder schoen, Kann auch alleine nach Hause gehn."

showed the critics in front of the foot-lights that a true artist was there. In fact none but a genius could play two such widely different roles as Mary Stuart and Gretchen, and lost their identity so completely in each; and we heard more than one person predict that Seebach was too thoroughly adapted to the part

LIBRARY HALL.—Hon. Charles Sumner will deliver his celebrated lecture on the Franco-Prussian war under the auspices of the Mercantile Library Association on Thanksgiving evening. This lecture is pronounced the most powerful literary effort of the distinguished orator's life, and its delivery in this city will doubtless attract a vast audience.

THE MORRIS BROTHERS open to-night at the Masonic Hall. No troupe of minstrels traveling are more popular, and deservedly so, than this. The mere announcement is all that is wanted in Pittsburgh where they are so favorably known. They played at the Academy last spring, where crowds were turned away each night. Go early if you want a good seat, and don't go at all if you do not want to laugh, as a lazy man or a crusty woman has no business to go where this troupe performs.

VARIETIES.—The numerous patrons of the Varieties were treated to a rich, rare and racy repast each evening during the past week, and they will have a still greater treat during the present week. See the brilliant array of talent announced in our amusement column.

ACADEMY.—The celebrated Fox & Denier pantomime troupe, as will be seen from our amusement column, will commence an engagement at the Academy this evening, with their original and laughable pantomime of "The Three Blind Mice."

BURNELL'S MUSEUM.—The large African python, which escaped from the den of living serpents some four weeks ago, at Burnell's Museum, was captured yesterday amidst the greatest excitement.

Thanksgiving Celebration.

The twelfth thanksgiving celebration of the United and Reformed Presbyterian Sabbath Schools, of Pittsburgh, will take place (D. V.) at Library Hall, November 24th, at half-past two o'clock P. M. The different schools will meet on Fifth avenue and Grant street, form in procession and march in order to the place of meeting. Rev. J. G. Brown, D. D., will preside on the occasion. The exercises will commence with the chanting of the sixty-seventh psalm by the children. Reading of scriptures in concert will follow, led by Dr. Brown. Rev. J. M. Cockins will offer the opening prayer. Then shall follow addresses to the children by such earnest and eloquent speakers as Rev. John Douglass, D. D., Revs. W. J. Reed and S. R. Reid. Rev. A. M. Milligan will deliver an address to teachers and officers. A very important part of the exercises will be a performance by the members of the Franklin St. Deaf and Dumb Mission School. And last, but not least, will be a poem by the celebrated poet and journalist, old John Brown's Secretary—Colonel Richard Realf, composed for the occasion, and to be read by himself. All the above exercises are to be interspersed by singing by the children and the choirs of the several churches. From the above programme it will be seen that a time of more than usual interest may be expected. Rev. T. H. Hanna, of the Sixth avenue United Presbyterian church will offer the closing prayer and pronounce the benediction.

Noonday Prayer Meeting.

The interest of these meetings has been increasing steadily for some time past. The large attendance each day is very encouraging. Some weeks the exercises are conducted by our city pastors, others by our business men, and others again by the students of our seminaries. Last week the meetings were conducted by the students of the Western Theological Seminary. This week the students of the United Presbyterian Seminary will take charge. The following is a list of the gentlemen appointed, with the several subjects chosen by them for each day:

Monday—Mr. Stevenson. Subject, Prayer for Churches.
Tuesday—Mr. Dodds. Subject, Temperance.
Wednesday—Mr. Brandon. Subject, Christian Effort.
Thursday—Mr. Swaney. Subject, Christ's Mission.
Friday—Mr. McCreery. Subject, Christ the Good Shepherd.
Saturday—Wm. H. Knox. Suject, Sabbath Schools.

A cordial invitation is extended to all our citizens and to strangers to be present at this "sweet hour of prayer." The exercises commence promptly at twelve o'clock and continue one-half hour.

JOHN W. PITTOCK is one of the youngest men connected with our city press.

S. R. MCLEAN, ESQ., the banker, went to Philadelphia, Saturday, on business.

SEEBACH was much pleased with the style and appearance of the Pittsburgh audiences.

CAPT. SAMUEL FULLWOOD is a success as the Pittsburgh agent of the Western Associated Press.

MAYOR BRUSH by law cannot be his own successor in office or he would certainly be re-elected.

MR. JAMES A. MACHUM has a fine photograph and autographic letter of the great Scotchman, Thomas Carlyle.

SCHWEIZER, of the Freiheits Freund, has gone from among us on a short pleasure trip to Philadelphia.

JAMES B. DODGE is growing popular as a printer of fashionable wedding and party cards.

MRS. JANE G. SWISSHELM is enjoying good health, and writing wicked retrospective articles on men and measures.

E. M. JENKINS, of Allegheny, is arranging for a Masonic excursion party of Sir Knights to go to Europe.

REV. S. H. THOMPSON, is about to resign his pastorate of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, on account of continued ill health.

BARTLEY T. CAMPBELL'S new book will appear about New Year's day. It is pronounced his best effort in romance writing.

HON. P. C. SHANNON will make no more outdoor public speeches. He is one of the most brilliant political orators in Pennsylvania.

GEN. A. L. PEARSON, Col. T. M. Bayne and Major E. A. Mortooth are the military aspirants for the District Attorneyship.

MR. CHARLES A. BOYNTON has been appointed the New York agent for the Western Associated Press, vice O. M. Bradford, removed.

MANY good citizens think Captain Reed of the Tombs, has served the city so long and faithfully that he should be put into the Mayor's chair next term.

A. W. ROOK, of the Dispatch, Dr. A. H. Gross, James Patterson, James Blackmore and B. W. Morgan, are prominent candidates for Mayor next term. We know of none others likely to take the field.

CHAS. F. MCKENNA, ESQ., thinks he had enough service in the military line during the late war to prevent his acting as Captain of Company "A" of the Irish battalion, an honor conferred on him without notice in advance.

REV. HENRY D. MOORE, it is said, will be called to the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian church, Allegheny, made vacant by the resignation of Rev. Geo. P. Hays. A meeting of the elders will be held in reference to the matter to-morrow night.

Immense Stock of Ladies', Misses' and Childrens' Furs at the Great Representative Fur House of Wm. Fleming & Co.—Prices 15 to 25 Per Cent Less Than Any Other House in City.

We are glad to learn that the immense and elegant stock of furs offered by this house within the last week or so has crowded their palatial and magnificent salesroom with customers. Indeed it would be strange if such were not the case, for the fact that this house has one of the largest and finest stock of Furs ever offered in this city, that it sells from 15 to 25 per cent. less than any other house, that no misrepresentations are made, and that all goods are warranted, should be inducements sufficient to attract the attention of all buyers who are guided by intelligence.

We once more assure our readers that they can save from 15 to 25 per cent. by buying their furs at Wm. Fleming & Co.'s, 139 Wood street.

THE Des Moines Register of the 16th says: "At Newton, on Saturday, a hive full of bees was received at the express office to be sent to some point West, and as the train came along was, with other parcels, put aboard the express car in charge of Mr. Millen, the messenger. As soon as the train left the station, the motion of the car being novel to the bees, this having been their first trip on a railroad, a few of the 'boses' were sent out of the hive to inquire of the messenger 'why this was thus,' and, as he says, annoyed him exceedingly by their pertinacity, 'going for him pretty lively,' as his answers did not seem to give them satisfaction. Now, if an express company contracts to take a parcel to a given point, it is no doubt right that it should do so at all hazards. But although 'beesness' is 'beesness,' the messenger was of opinion that bees-nests were also bees-nests, and if the bees were to be taken as passengers in his car they should themselves conform to the usual rules, which they not seeming inclined to do, he decided to put them off the train as soon as it arrived at Altoona. In carrying out his intention he was attacked by several of the malcontents, and had to drop the hive on the platform at the station. This broke it open, and in a moment the released inmates rushed into the passenger coaches in a swarm, and employed the shining moments in making it red hot for the passengers. Handkerchiefs, shawls, hats, coat-tails, &c., flapped in all directions, and it is even vaguely hinted that there was some tall swearing done just about that time."

DR. C. O. CROSBY, of New Haven, has invented and patented a boot making and sewing machine. The machine is described as being simple in operation, though intricate in mechanism. All work is lasted before going into it, the lasts are placed in position, and in one minute insole, welt and upper leather are sewed together. The outer sole is then put on, the operation repeated, and the bottoming process done. For turned work only one operation is required. A company with a cash capital of $160,000 has been chartered by the Legislature to make this machine, called the "Crosby Welted and Turned Sole Sewing Machine Company." The manufacture of the machine has already begun.

THE WEST.

A WILTON, Iowa, woman advertises that she will not be answerable for her husband's debts.

JOHN CHA-HE-NOS-EE-KEE, an Indian who had completed his 107th year, died recently at St. Joseph.

A SCHMIDT, of Sioux City, has a horse that unties a bow knot with his teeth, flings the loose end over his neck so that it will not be in his way, and goes home.

THEY have church-going dogs in Bloomfield, Indiana. The Democrat says a procession of about twenty marched up to the pulpit of the Methodist Church last Sunday, during the service.

A MAN stole Mr. Foley's breeches from under his head, while he was sleeping in the Patterson House, Keokuk, last Saturday night; but Mrs. F. woke up just in time to make the rascal drop them.

A YOUNG lady in Wyoming, Jones county, Iowa, named Harriet Fordham, had just commenced arrangements for her marriage, when she was seized with typhoid fever, and died. The wedding dress became her shroud.

A KOKOMO, Ind., jury has acquitted Lieut. Dougherty for the killing of young Van Horn, who slandered his sister. The widow of the deceased attempted summary vengeance with a revolver in the court room, but missed her aim.

THE Darlington Wisconsin Democrat reports that, on Monday night, the people of that village were startled by experiencing a shock having every indication of an earthquake. Houses were shaken, doors and windows rattled, &c. Almost every one felt it. The next morning it was the general subject of conversation. When the Plattville train came in, however, the mystery was explained—the powder mill at that place had exploded. The mill is some twenty-one miles from Darlington.

MR. MATT. YOAKEM, who lived near Michigan City, was fatally injured, last Saturday, while endeavoring to settle a corner post under his house. His son-in-law, who was assisting him, was using an axe, the helve of which had been fastened to the blade by nails, when the axe flew from the handle, striking Mr. Yoakem on the bridge of the nose, penetrating to the brain, and driving one of the nails through the temple bone. The unfortunate man lingered until Monday evening, when he died.

THE Cairo Bulletin of the 10th says: "Two negro children were burned to death in the upper part of the city, yesterday evening, under circumstances the most distressing and horrible. A negro woman, who lives near Mr. Aubrey's residence, left her little child, only one year and three months old, tied in a chair near the fire, and went out to gather an arm load of wood. She was not gone more than twenty minutes, but when she returned she found the child enveloped in a sheet of flame. The other child, about three years old, was found lying on the floor beside the chair of the little one, a charred mass of lifeless remains. The mother found it impossible to extinguish the flames in time to save the life of the younger child, and it died, we hear, a few hours afterward, in the most horrible agony."
